Three former governors warned delegates to the '67 State Constitutional Convention Monday against the dangers of a restrictive constitution. Four other living former governors were unable to attend the ceremonial festivities of "Governor's Day". Permanent constitution rules are being reviewed by a temporary committee.

THE NATION

President Johnson finally let show his annoyance with some of the reactions to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's scheduled departure from the cabinet. At an informal news conference, the President said that he knew of no other impending changes in his cabinet despite the rumors that had been spread by "some kids." In response to a question, he said, the rumor-spreaders could be acting on behalf of some members of Congress.

At his news conference, the President announced that Lt. Gen. Leonard F. Chapman Jr., had been selected as the new Marine Corps Commandant. The selection of a successor to Gen. Wallace M. Green Jr., had caused a bitter fight within the Marine Corps.

Broad draft deferments for graduate students in the fields of natural science, mathematics, engineering and health have been recommended by an inter-agency advisory committee to the National Security Council.

THE WORLD

A United States military spokesman reported that American infantrymen and South Vietnamese Marines boxed in a Viet Cong battalion Monday in the Mekong Delta and killed 200 of the 300-man enemy force. American casualties were listed as three infantrymen and one sailor killed and 35 soldiers and three soldiers wounded. The South Vietnamese Marines reportedly suffered 15 killed and 50 wounded.

George Meany emphasized in three speeches before labor conventions that the AFL-CIO of which he is president, strongly supported President Johnson's conduct of the war.

France's wheel-less Aerotrain, which rides above a concrete rail on an air cushion one-tenth of an inch thick, set what its builders claimed was a world record for track vehicles. The train was first said to have 375 kilometers an hour, but the reading was later corrected to 345, equal to 215 miles an hour. The record for a conventional locomotive was 195 miles an hour.

SPORTS

A heavy slate of basketball and wrestling is on tap for Warren County high school teams tonight. Sheffield opens its cage season by hosting Elk County Christian and Youngsville initiates its wrestling program at Wattsburg. Other games find Warren entertaining Bradford, Eisenhower at North East and Youngsville at Clarion. Eisenhower's mat team opens defense of its Southern Tier Conference title by hosting Salamanca, Page 6

The Pittsburgh Pirates will hold a "Warren County Day" at Forbes Field on Sunday, July 28th, it was announced last night. Members of the Warren Beverage Baseball Club will be honored at the affair, Page 7.

Penn State was voted the Lambert Trophy, symbolic of football supremacy in the East, yesterday and Nittany Lion Coach Joe Paterno used the occasion to rate Eastern teams on a par with it in the nation. He also chided the Ivy League for its rules limiting the sport, Page 6.

Former sportscaster Harry Wismer died yesterday at age 53. A controversial figure in sports, his feuds in both the NFL and AFL are recalled on Page 7.

A DOUBLE ORDER

Consultations with Santa Claus usually are private affairs — sitting on his lap, whispering in his ear—but last night five-year-old David Tranelli and two-year-old Barbara Ann Scallise gave the grand old man of Christmas a double order for this year's holiday visit. The two youngsters were seen through the window of Santa's House at the corner of Hickory st. and Penna ave. (Photo by Mahan)

Troops Trap Veteran Viet Cong Battalion

SAIGON (AP) — Streaming out of river transports and helicopters, nearly 1,500 U.S. and South Vietnamese troops trapped 400 to 500 men of a veteran Viet Cong battalion on the muddy banks of a Mekong Delta canal Monday and blundered them with fire from four sides. Allied commands reported 200 Reds killed by nightfall, with the battle still raging.

But elsewhere in the war, the Communists kept up their hammering of U.S. bases and outposts in scattered areas with rocket and mortar attacks. Red gunners on North Vietnam's coast put a round into the deck of the U.S. Navy destroyer Ozbourn, killing two sailors and wounding three.

The action in the delta along the Rach Ruong Canal, 66 miles southwest of Saigon, began with a hunt Monday morning by an allied Rivine Task Force for the 502nd Viet Cong Local Force Battalion, which has occupied the major rice-growing area for years.

Four Americans and 15 South Vietnamese were reported killed in the early stages of the fight while 38 Americans and 50 Vietnamese were wounded.

The operation, dubbed Coronado Nine, appeared to underline reports that U.S. forces soon will play a wider role in the effort to break the Viet Cong's long-standing control over the Mekong Delta, the nation's rice bowl.

Informants in Saigon reported that Maj. Gen. William R. Peers of Stuart, Iowa, the U.S. 4th Infantry Division commander who led forces that drove the North Vietnamese from the hills around Dak To last month, will be named senior American adviser in the Mekong sector early in the new year.

Deferments Urged For Special Graduate Students

(C) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — An inter-agency advisory committee has recommended that the National Security Council permit broad draft deferments for graduate students in the fields of natural science, mathematics, engineering and health.

If accepted by the National Security Council, the recommendation would mean that about half of the currently estimated 144,000 first-year graduate students will continue to be deferred after blanket graduate school deferments expire next year.

The council is expected to make a final decision on the question of graduate deferments later this month.

The council is chaired by President Johnson and includes Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Ferris Bryant, the director of the Office of Emergency Planning.

The recommendation is now in the hands of Wirtz and Trowbridge and they are expected to forward it to the council sometime later this week.

These and other subjects were placed before the President at an informal news conference. He dealt routinely with taxes and the Market Street elementary school were approved by the board. Norge Luvison, buildings and grounds director, explained that the repairs will be made on areas where structural faults are expected to appear. He said that half the slabs' area, where faults have already appeared, has already been repaired by the contractor.

The purchase of three properties in Clarendon Borough was approved. The board will buy the property of Norman L. Cassatt and Elizabeth L. Cassatt for $7,000; that of Peter C. Linder and Anna Marie Linder for $8,000; and that of Marian L. Sleeman for $1,500.

Other action by the school board last night was largely routine.

After the regular meeting, school board members convened as the Warren County Area Vocational - Technical School Board. The new tech director, Samuel Marek, submitted a list of about 40 people he thought might be appropriate as members of a "general advisory committee" on v-tech education. The board approved his request that he contact these people and try to get 25 committee members.

According to Marek, the advisory committee would have four main functions: to advise the school board on the types of courses needed, to organize community surveys, to help the reputation of the school, and to influence state and federal legislation on vocational education.

The PTA is thinking of asking for a reduced speed zone where Route 6 intersects with Yankee Bush rd.

Mrs. Robert Hedrick, member of the PTA's safety committee, asked Warren County School District board members last night to write state officials and ask them to see that the intersection is made as safe as possible.

Mrs. Hedrick moved this would not mean the board would get involved if the PTA should ask for a reduced speed zone.

"A reminder from the school board is sometimes much more effective than a reminder from the PTA," she said.

Asked by board members whether the PTA had contacted the township supervisors, Mrs. Hedrick said they had and that the supervisors were familiar with and interested in the problem.

Board members appeared to feel that the supervisors were in a good position to influence state officials on the subject.

R.K. Cyphert, board vice president, said "I think you'll find that the township supervisors have the best lobby in Harrisburg you can find."

The school board did not commit itself to any definite action on the Route 6 question.

Mrs. Hedrick had asked the board to write to Assemblyman William Allen, Senator Frame, and the district director of the State Highway Department.

The PTA feels the intersection is unsafe, Mrs. Hedrick said, because the blinker light is in operation only just before and after school hours and during the noon hour.

She said that many drivers pay little attention to the light, and that it is not very visible in foggy weather.

Another question was raised by the PTA last night, this one by the county PTA council. The board was asked whether PTA's would have to pay rent for the use of school buildings for meetings.

(The school board had decided recently that some organizations, not completely specified, would have to pay to use the buildings.) The board replied that only janitorial and similar "service" fees would be charged the PTA; there would be no charge for the mere use of school space.

In other action, the board re-elected M.G. Keller president and Cyphert vice president. Secretary and treasurer will be elected at a later date.

These elections were part of the annual board reorganization meeting, a brief session before the regular meeting last night.

Warren County Redevelopment Authority met in executive session Monday night with five members present to discuss the acquisition of property necessary to complete the Liberty st. renewal project.

The executive session, closed to the press, was held following a brief routine meeting in the basement conference room of Warren County Court House.

Makarios Calls For Complete Withdrawal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — President Makarios of Cyprus, responding to U.N. proposals to avert war over his island republic, called Monday for the complete withdrawal of Greek and Turkish troops on Cyprus and U.N. Security Council action to bar any military intervention.

The Greek Orthodox archbishop said he welcomed the appeal by Secretary General U Thant as "a significant and constructive contribution to the cause of peace."

Greece and Turkey had accepted the proposals soon after they were presented Sunday.

The secretary-general asked, as a first step, for the withdrawal of Greek and Turkish forces above the levels prescribed in the 1960 Cyprus independence agreements.

He also suggested that "it might be considered desirable" to enlarge the responsibilities of the U.N. Peace Force on the island to help prevent bloodshed between the bitterly antagonistic Greek and Turkish Cypriot populations.

The 1960 agreements provide for the presence of 950 Greek troops and 650 Turkish soldiers on the eastern Mediterranean island. The Greeks are reported to have 8,000 to 12,000 men there, while the Turkish forces are estimated at 1,200.

Premier Constantine Kollias of Greece and Premier Suleyman Demirel of Turkey said in their acceptance that they were ready to act on them "expeditiously." In Athens, diplomatic sources reported that a Greek ship had left for Cyprus to pick up the first Greek contingent. Similar information was relayed officially to Turkey's Parliament in Ankara.

Makarios' reply appeared to mark the end to the threat of war between Greece and Turkey over Cyprus which arose after 25 Turkish Cypriots were killed last month in a clash with Greek Cypriots.

Heart Transplant Patient

Says He's Feeling Better

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — A South African with a transplanted heart spoke for the first time Monday, saying: "I am feeling much better." But doctors warned a crucial period for him is expected by the week's end.

Louis Washkansky, 55, underwent an operation Sunday, receiving the transplanted heart of Denise Ann Darvall, 25, fatally injured in an automobile accident the day before. Her heart was kept "alive" for three hours with a flow of fluid from the time of her death until the operation.

Prof. Jan. H. Louw of Cape Town University's medical school, said Washkansky's condition was good after what was described as the first human heart transplant in medical history.

The patient's temperature, pulse and blood pressure were normal, his condition was better than expected, and he slept well Sunday night, Louw reported. Washkansky's heart had been so bad that he had not been expected to live long.

He was being fed intravenously but may start being fed by mouth Tuesday, beginning with a few drops of water. A respirator which aids his breathing was removed, permitting him to speak.

The transplanted heart is in good condition, Louw said, and required only a single shock to start it beating after being transplanted during the five-hour operation.

Rejection of the heart by Washkansky's body is the greatest danger now, doctors reported. Louw said drugs were being administered to lessen the chances of such a rejection.

"The most serious possibility of rejection will come at the end of a week," he added.

Johnson Says He Plans No Other Cabinet Changes

(C) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — President Johnson said Monday he knew of no other impending changes in his cabinet despite the rumors that had been spread by "some kids" acting on behalf of some members of Congress.

With these and other acerbic comments, the President finally let show his annoyance at the reaction of the followers and relatives of the late President Kennedy to the scheduled departure of Robert S. McNamara as Secretary of Defense.

With a studiously flat comment, Johnson also brushed aside the challenge to his re-nomination by Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn. He said he thought everyone had a right to run for any office if he wished.

And with a sharp "no comment," the President held aloof from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's suggestion that American troops temporarily invade the territory of North Vietnam. In a second thought, Johnson added that he would rather handle that through his commander in the field than on television, as General Eisenhower had.

These and other subjects were placed before the President at an informal news conference. He dealt routinely with taxes and budget questions, avoided any lengthy repetition of his views on Vietnam and said he thought his prior statement on McNamara's departure to head the World Bank had contained his best explanation.

The President said he had not yet chosen a new Defense Secretary, who is expected to take office early next year.

Johnson did not hide his resentment toward the Kennedy circle when asked about reports of other cabinet resignations. "I know that some kids have been calling around some of your (news) bureaus predicting that. These same boys from time to time set up straw men and then proceed to knock them

Bethlehem Steel Hikes

Price $5 Per Net Ton

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — Bethlehem Steel Corp., following the lead of the nation's No. 1 steelmaker, Monday rejected government pleas to hold the price line and hiked the base price of cold rolled sheets used in autos and appliances by $5 a net ton, effective, December 15.

U.S. Steel Corp. had raised the price first last Friday, a move criticized by Gardner

Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors.

Now that Bethlehem, the nation's second largest steel producer, has increased, it is expected that other firms will quickly follow suit.

If other producers follow the lead of the "Big Two" the industry — in piecemeal fashion — will have hiked prices this year on steel products that account for 62 per cent of their total shipments.

Bethlehem went slightly further than U.S. Steel, raising prices on some hot rolled sheets $1 to $8 a ton, and cutting it on others $1 and $2.

Ackley has urged other steel producers to stay off the price increase wagon.

Distraught Man Holds Five As Hostages in Detroit Home

DETROIT (AP) — A distraught man whose son was killed during Detroit's summer race riot, armed himself Monday and held two women, one of them pregnant, and three children as hostages in his home.

One of the children was reportedly a deaf mute.

Police surrounded the near West Side home of Eugene Ector, who they said had fired several shots out before they arrived.

William Watson, a retired Detroit policeman, said he spoke with Ector on the phone.

"The sight of the police cars upset him," said Watson, 50, a veteran of 25 years on the police force. "He said they remind me of my son."

Ector's son, Herman, 30, was shot and killed on July 24, one of the 43 persons who died in the July race riot. Murder charges were filed against a private guard in connection with the shooting of the younger Ector.

Some 30 policemen surrounded Ector's home and ordered cars in the area to turn off their lights. No lights were visible in Ector's house, located at 5637 Stanford near Grand Boulevard about 1 1/2 miles west of 12th Street.

Police were armed with rifles and tear gas guns. Police said they arrived at the house at about 3:45 p.m., 15 minutes after Ector shut himself in with his hostages.

They said several shots had been fired before they arrived but none since then. The hostages were apparently unharmed.

"We got him (Eugene) on the phone," Watson said who, like Ector is a Negro, "and he said 'Just move the cars away.'"

Wheel-less Aerotrain Breaks World Record

PARIS — France's wheel-less aerotrain roared along its concrete rail at 233 miles an hour Monday — well, anyway, 215 — and its builders claimed a world record for track vehicles.

In fact, to heighten both the glory and the confusion of the event, it was reliably reported that the sleek aluminum car actually had done 250 miles per hour in sprints along its 4.2-mile track at Gometz-La-Ville, south of Paris.

After the run Monday, and over the roar of the engines, officials broadcast a reading that sounded like 375 kilometers an hour. The builders corrected that Monday to 345, based on ground measurements. But that equals 215 miles per hour, which is 20 miles faster than the record — also French — for a conventional locomotive.

Government contracts are about to be signed that will finance not only the fullscale Aerotrain but also a 12.4-mile elevated track leading north from Orleans. Eventually, the promoters hope to extend the line to Paris, about 70 miles, which the train would do in 25 minutes.

Spokesmen for Bertin & Cie, insist that the fullscale Aerotrain will be "perfectly soundproofed" — an evident problem for the noisy experimental model.

State's Former Governors Honored at Convention

HARRISBURG (AP) — Three former governors warned delegates to the 1967 Constitutional Convention Monday against the dangers of a restrictive constitution.

"I challenge you — do not write a constitution of constraint but write one which releases our great and varied capacities to service the needs of our people," declared former Gov. George M. Leader, a Democrat who served as chief executive from 1955-59.

Four of the seven living ex-governors were unable to attend the ceremonial festivities which occupied the second day of convention while permanent rules were being reviewed by a temporary committee.

Leader and his two contemporaries, John S. Fine, 1951-53, and William W. Scranton, 1963-67, both Republicans, took the same tack in their brief addresses to the 163 delegates.

"We trust, we fervently hope that this convention will provide in clear and precise language future guidelines for a better Pennsylvania," said Fine.

"The last four governors of this state were unanimous in their support of this endeavor," said Scranton, who is serving as a delegate from Lackawanna County.

"Only if you have sat in that (governor's) chair can you appreciate the difficulties of attempting to operate a government under a restrictive constitution."

Monday was officially billed as "Governor's Day" in Harrisburg, with the state's congressmen and legislators to be recognized Tuesday and Wednesday.

Former Govs. George H. Earle, Democrat, 1935-39, and Arthur H. James, Republican, 1939-43, were described as too ill to be present.

James H. Duff, a Republican, 1947-51, was said to have a previous engagement while Chief Justice John C. Bell, a Republican who served as governor for 13 days in 1947, swore the delegates in last Friday.

The three delegates who missed the opening ceremonies last Friday were administered their oath of office by Judge Homer L. Kreider of Dauphin County Court. They were Senate President Pro Tempore Robert D. Fleming, a Republican, ex-officio member, William J. C. O'Donnell, D. Chester County, and David V. Shapiro, D. Philadelphia.

Approximately 20 of the 163 delegates were absent from the second-day ceremonies.

What business transpired occurred within the temporary rules committee under the chairmanship of Scranton and Casey, the convention's first vice-president, which reviewed tentative rules drafted by the defunct legislative Preparatory Committee.

A number of committee members, including Scranton and Casey, advocated an alphabetical seating system without regard to political party or senatorial district. The rules proposed seating alphabetically by district.

The most critical note was sounded by former state Superior Court Judge Robert E. Woodside, a Dauphin County Republican, who said the proposed rules placed an emphasis on bipartisanship rather than non-partisanship.

Woodside said he particularly objected to the provision of co-chairmen for each committee and subcommittee, one from each party. He asserted that a delegate's political affiliation should not be a factor in the responsibility he was assigned.

Mourners Pay Last Respects

NEW YORK (AP) — Mourners by the thousands in long lines paid their last respects Monday to Francis Cardinal Spellman, deceased prince of the Roman Catholic Church.

Police used bull horns and barricades to direct the flow of visitors into St. Patrick's Cathedral on Fifth Avenue. Lines extended east for a block to Madison Avenue.

Cardinal Spellman died Saturday at the age of 78.

Some 2,500 children representing 443 parochial schools in the archdiocese of New York attended a mid-afternoon mass for the prelate. Also attending were two brothers of the Cardinal, Martin Spellman and Dr. John Spellman, and two sisters, Mrs. Marian Pegnam and Mrs. Helene Carthy.

After funeral services Thursday, Cardinal Spellman's body will be interred in a crypt beneath St. Patrick's main altar. Pope Paul VI will select Cardinal Spellman's successor. There was no indication when the successor will be chosen.

Jamestown Taxpayers Headed for Big Tax Hike

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — Jamestown taxpayers are headed for one of the largest tax increases in the city's history unless the incoming GOP administration can make the major cuts in the record — high $12.8 million budget. The new city administration met Monday night in an effort to prune the budget, but were able to knock out only $6,000 for the parks department request.

The council tentatively agreed to go along with the entire $94,428 budget as requested by the James Prendergast Free Library. This represents an increase $8,500 over the 1967 appropriation. Members of the Library board, headed by Chairman Miles L. Lasser, appeared to explain the library's request. Mr. Lasser called the library, "one of the city's truly outstanding assets."

The budget for the assessor's office was considered next, but no formal cuts were made. The council discussed the possibility of charging 50 cents each for copies of the city assessment role in order to create some revenue in the assessor's office.

In the parks department budget, a request of $625 for cabs to cover open tractors was completely eliminated. The GOP councilmen then cut $1,500 from a $2,500 request for replacement of lights in Allen Park, and then completely eliminated $2,500 for new lights at Bergman Park. Another $2,500 request to supply water at the Bergman Park picnic facilities was also eliminated.

Budget hearings will continue again Tuesday night with consideration of a whopping $3.3 million budget for 1968 from the Department of Social Services, formally known as the Welfare Department. This year's welfare budget is $2.2 million.

Violence Erupts Again in Calcutta

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — After five days of quiet, violence erupted in Calcutta again Monday when 1,000 students fought police on the university campus in a four-hour battle.

The students turned the university building into a fortress and hurled home-made bombs and explosives from the windows. As the police retreated the students emerged, and attacked the police with stones and bamboo sticks.

Dr. King Plans Disruptive Demonstrations in Capitol

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., laying blame for poverty and racism on the federal government, said Monday he will launch prolonged, disruptive demonstrations in Washington next spring with the help of antiwar groups.

"We will go there, we will demand to be heard and we will stay until America responds," King said at a news conference.

King said his organization, Southern Christian Leadership Conference, "will lead waves of the nation's poor and disinherited" into the national capital to demand government action for "jobs or income for all."

The campaign probably will begin "around the first of April," King said, and at first will involve 3,000 volunteers from 10 major cities— which he would not specify— in some type of civil disobedience.

King said the new move might turn into the first major merging of antiwar and civil rights forces. "As we escalate it, all peace groups will be called in," he said. These groups will be drawn in to support the "jobs or income" demands, he said.

The United States is fighting two wars—one in Vietnam and the other against poverty and injustice at home, he said. "And we're losing both."

King said targets would be federal agencies, Congress and perhaps the White House. The question of pitching tents in the capital would have to be settled later, he said.

King, who announced plans for a Washington campaign three months ago, said again he considered this a "kind of last resort for nonviolence."

"Very frankly," he said, "this is a search for an alternative to the riots." King predicted the worst violence in U.S. history unless there is favorable response to demands for action against poverty and racial discrimination.

The demonstrations will be nonviolent, King said, and the next three months will be spent training and organizing the initial cadre of 3,000 participants. Some demonstrators will walk to Washington from such areas as Mississippi, he said, while there will be local demonstrations also.

In a formal statement, King blamed American society at large for deplorable conditions of poverty and racism.

"It's a sign of protest," said MacGregor. "I don't live in Harrisburg and can't even vote there, so why should I be required to pay anything to the city?"

At least last year, MacGregor went easier on the mailman. He wrote a check for the tax on a shirt, probably right off his back.

Pays Tax With Aluminum Check

HARRISBURG (AP) — Louis M. MacGregor paid his $10 city occupational privilege tax with a heavy heart and a check to match.

The Cumberland County National Bank and Trust Co. reported Monday that the suburban Camp Hill resident mailed it an aluminum check on which was etched his name, address and other pertinent information.

The check was eight inches long, four inches wide and a half inch thick. It weighed one pound, 9½ ounces.

"It's a perfectly legitimate check," said George Weitzel, bookkeeping manager at the bank.

Capitol Tree From Tuscarora

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Capitol's traditional Christmas tree this year will be a 40-foot hemlock from the Tuscarora State Forest, the Forests and Waters Department announced Monday.

This hemlock the official state tree, will arrive here Friday. It is to stand in front of the Capitol.

The same delivery will include a 25-foot Norway Spruce to be erected in the Rotunda. Another 100 smaller trees for the various state offices also will be sent.

Mrs. Raymond P. Shafer, wife of the governor, will officiate in the formal tree-lighting ceremony at noon, Dec. 18.

While on the subject, the department had some tips for Pennsylvanians buying trees of a more conventional size.

— Cut the trunk at an angle and be sure the water supply is constant.

— Use a fireproofing spray composed of two gallons of sodium silicate, one gallon of water and six teaspoons of liquid soap.

— Be sure the string of lights is in good condition.

McNamara's Leaving Viewed With Mixed Feelings in Viet

(C) N.Y. Times News Service SAIKON — The impending departure of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara from the Pentagon has been greeted by many military men in Vietnam with relief, rather than regret, partly for reasons that have nothing to do with the Vietnamese war.

The announcement of McNamara's shift to the World Bank came as a major surprise to even high-ranking officers.

It was learned from authoritative sources that neither U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker Nor Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. Commander in Vietnam who recently returned here from consultations in Washington, were told of the McNamara retirement before it was announced.

Key members of the House armed services committee who left Vietnam today after a brief visit also had no warning of the change.

Lewis Run Youth Charged

An 18-year-old Lewis Run, Pa., youth was arrested Saturday night by Chief Deputy Sheriff Richard E. Hegerty and charged under Sec. 675.1, transporting beer.

Robert D. Howard Jr. pleaded guilty before Peace Justice Raymond Gilmore and paid a $25 fine and costs.

Hegerty said that at 9:15 p.m. Saturday he received a call from Warren Auxiliary Police Capt. Richard Moll, who was working a high school dance, that a car containing beer had been spotted.

The chief deputy went to the scene and watched the car until about 9:45 p.m. when, Hegerty said, Howard appeared and got into the vehicle. The accused was arrested and Hegerty found nine bottles of Budweiser beer in the car. The brew, police stated, had been purchased in New York State.

Escapes Injury

A North Clymer, N.Y. man escaped serious injury in a one-car accident on Legislative Rt. 61018, one mile east of Bear Lake, early Monday morning.

State police said David L. Bemus, 28, RD 2, Townline rd., North Clymer, was traveling west on Rt. 61018 at 1 a.m. when he went off the south berm, sideswiped a bridge and hit a guard rail. Police said the car caught fire, but there was no major damage. Total damage amounted to $200.

Bemus was taken to Corry Hospital, but discharged the same morning.

LBJ Appoints Chapman New Marine Corps Head

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson named the new Marine Corps Commandant Monday — promoting the No. 2 man, Lt. Gen. Leonard Chapman—but said he has not picked a new secretary of defense. He also said he knows of no other Cabinet changes coming up.

Johnson told newsmen who were summoned into the Cabinet Room that he knew "some kids had been calling around to your bureaus" and predicting additional Cabinet shuffling.

The President sat in the presidential chair in the center of the long Cabinet table facing newsmen on the other side to announce the promotion of Chapman. Chapman is now assistant to the retiring commandant, Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr. Greene steps down on Dec. 31.

In the talk that has been going around Washington, Chapman had been listed as the darkhorse in the race to become commandant.

Talked of as favorites were Lt. Gen. Victor H. Krulak, now commander of Fleet Marine Forces in the Pacific, and Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, who lead Marine forces in Vietnam before he was transferred to headquarters as chief of personnel.

There were reports last week that Gen. William C. Westmoreland of the Army, commander in Vietnam, had let it be known he favored Walt but this was denied.

Chapman was on hand for the announcement that he was Johnson's choice. Tall, slender, with a crew cut, Chapman said that the nomination—the Senate has to approve it—does him the greatest honor.

"I want to assure you, sir," he said, "I am going to do the very best I can for you, the country and the Marine Corps."

Johnson said he had had a number of recommendations and picked the man he thought was the best qualified as Greene's successor.

Questions spun from one topic to another, including these: Tax increase—the President said it is becoming more evident every day that the country needs a tax bill and he hopes Congress will pass one.

Expenditure cuts—he put them up to Congress, saying that it has the power to make reductions and he hopes it utilizes the power as it thinks it necessary.

Richard Andersen, founder and director of the Warren Campus Theater at the Edinboro State College branch here, was presented a plaque following the final performance of "The Male Animal."

The plaque was presented by members of the theater in "appreciation for the unselfish devotion of his time while producing 'The Male Animal'."

The James Thurber and Elliot Nugent comedy closed Dec. 1, after a two-night run at the Market Street School auditorium.

Andersen's theatrical experience includes acting and directing with five troupes: State College Arena Theater, Penn State Players, Flouwright Playhouse (Warren's summer theater), Campus Theater, and Warren Players, of which he is a former president.

At the Warren Campus, he has also directed "Dinny and the Witches", "Antigone", "Hedda Gabler", and "Private Lives".

Born and raised along Kinzua Creek in McKean County, Andersen attended high school in Erie, received his B.A. from Allegheny College, took graduate courses at Edinboro State College, and received his M.A. in drama at Penn State.

He has been a school teacher in Warren for 16 years at Beatty Jr. High School, Northern Area, Warren Area High School, and the Warren Campus for the past three years. He resides in North Warren with his wife and two children.

Corry Teen-ager Files Complaint

CORRY — An 18-year-old girl Thursday night filed a complaint against a local man charging him with pointing a deadly weapon.

The charge stemmed from an incident which took place shortly before 11 a. m. at the Huff Kendall station.

Police said the girl, Barbara Pate, 18, of RD 3, Corry, came running to a street department crew working on snow removal.

She was crying and told one employee a man asked her to get into his car at the service station and go for a ride with him.

The girl said the man was Norman Penoyer, RD 1, Corry. She declined the ride, but, she said, Penoyer then pointed a shotgun at her through the car window and told her, "You're going with me."

The teenager said she told Penoyer she had to see her father, then ran from the car to where the men were removing snow.

The crew foreman called police and officers were just leaving the station to go to the scene when Penoyer drove up to the Municipal building and told officers he knew they would be looking for him. He turned over a .12 gauge shotgun and was allowed to go.

Chief Frank Carnegie told the officers to file a complaint against Penoyer but Alderman Porter Auer instead asked the girl to sign. She did so and Auer prepared a summons ordering the man to a hearing.

Johnson told newsmen who were summoned into the Cabinet Room that he knew "some kids had been calling around to your bureaus" and predicting additional Cabinet shuffling.

The President sat in the presidential chair in the center of the long Cabinet table facing newsmen on the other side to announce the promotion of Chapman. Chapman is now assistant to the retiring commandant, Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr. Greene steps down on Dec. 31.

A Difficult Task

The Warren Area Chamber of Commerce, by a vote of its board of directors and at the suggestion of Barry Epstein the recently appointed executive vice president, has set a difficult but worthy goal it hopes to achieve in the near future. A goal that has been achieved by no more than five other chambers in the state, and by no more than 19 in the nation.

They hope to become accredited by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. This is a goal not easy to realize. For under recent requirements established by the national organization of chambers only a chamber operating at the peak of efficiency and providing peak services to its members can hope to qualify.

Yet there is nothing about the accreditation program that would tend to standardize the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce or force it to conform to a common mold.

It would simply mean that the local chamber in its planning and programming, in its definition of purpose and objectives, and in its normal operations meets specific qualifications set by its parent organization.

These qualifications cover every possible function of the local chamber, with the accreditation depending on whether or not these functions receive a passing grade when totaled on a predetermined point system.

If the accreditation goal can be achieved it will firmly establish the fact that the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce is all that the community can expect it to be and should give the residents of the Warren area just cause to be proud that our community, through its chamber of commerce, offers the finest in this type of community service.

Committeemen who will assist Epstein in moving the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce toward the accreditation goal are: Jack Lutz, Carl Pierson, John Kirk, Jake Levinson, and Neil Culbertson.

One can only offer encouragement and wish them luck as they tackle this momentous task, but success in this venture would provide its own rewards. We know.

Coat Rack Down the Hall

HARRISBURG — It's difficult to imagine what some delegates to Pennsylvania's constitutional convention, this week under its initial and somewhat hesitant head of steam, expected to find when they first arrived on the scene here on Capitol Hill.

There was for example the little lady from the western part of the state who, upon arriving for the opening session last Friday in some six inches of snow and nipping temperature readings, wandered into one of the many offices in the Main Capitol Building, to inquire somewhat pre-emptively:

"And where, pray tell, am I supposed to put my galoshes, umbrella and coat?"

One of the clerks in the office, which incidentally had no relationship whatsoever with the convention, pointed out that there was a coat rack down the hall where such items were being placed and suggested that the little lady put her duds there too.

"Well, I never —," huffed the disaffected delegate from the western territories of the state. "Someone could steal them, and — why, almost anything could happen. I didn't think it would be like this I can assure you, young lady."

Did she expect each of the 163 convention delegates to have their own private office suites, color television in each office, private bath, private cloakroom, with all the trimmings?

Or, there was the gent from one of the northern tier counties who, upon pulling up in his Bentley to one Capitol Police man working the parking lot in the rear of the Main Capitol Building, inquired regally:

"I say, my good fellow, can you tell me which parking space has been assigned to me?"

(On the crowded, routinely jammed and inadequate state parking lots, spaces are not assigned; it's a question of which driver gets there first — providing of course he has an approved parking sticker for that lot.)

All in all though the delegates seemingly accept with proper grace that which is provided for them, most recognizing the fact that for 163 persons, facilities and pleasurable items must of necessity be limited.

They do have their working tools, their operational quarters in the hall of the House of Representatives are almost made to order (far better facilities incidentally than most states enjoy) and the machinery for running the convention is fairly well greased and set up.

After all, the delegates are here to work and they have much to accomplish in the short three months allotted them; the convention was not designed as the setting for a round of daylight cocktail hours.

And too, when you come right down to it, the provisions for the convention have been from scratch; there's been no precedent of contemporary or near-contemporary note which could be followed.

It wasn't a case of checking with some older on sticky problems "to find out how it was done before" — for the simple reason that the last such constitutional convention was held 94 years ago and they just can't seem to round up anyone who was on hand for that confab for guidance and counseling.

All in all though, the feeling at this point is that the convention will roll along in rather decent fashion, minus the tumult and vituperative atmosphere that seemingly prevailed during the 1838 constitutional convention when Thaddeus Stevens at one point lashed out at Philadelphia, calling it "a great and growing ulcer on the public body politic." Brother Stevens himself was branded by a Whig delegate as a "sneaking cantamount!"

(There aren't any Whigs at this convention.)

WM. F. BUCKLEY

Will They Break The Law

The morning's news brings yet another deft from the lawbreakers, couched this time in language most provocative. The idea is to "close down" an induction center in Manhattan by physically interfering with anyone who seeks to enter the building. It all began, as ever, with a press conference, Dr. Benjamin Spock, the baby doctor, and Mr. Dwight Macdonald, the critic, presiding.

These gentlemen, who even now will swoon with dismay at the mere recollection of Senator McCarthy's "methods," are in fact not particularly interested in testing the validity of certain Congressional statutes authorizing the draft and prohibiting seditious resistance to the draft. They are interested in any method of interfering with the prosecution of a particular war, the war in Vietnam. Nevertheless, they find it rhetorically convenient to frame their case against these laws in generic language. It makes you sound more philosophical if you say, "I am against the killing of women and children," than if you say, "I am against the killing of those women and children who are accidentally killed as the result of our defense effort in Southeast Asia."

Accordingly, Dr. Spock talks as though the law against counseling young men to refuse to register were unconstitutional (that law was upheld unanimously in 1917 by the Supreme Court and, indirectly, as recently as in 1958). "The Government," said Dr. Spock, "is not likely to prosecute us. Its bankruptcy in the moral sense is proved by its refusal to move against those of us who have placed ourselves between the young people and the draft."

A reporter fished around for the meaning of that statement and then asked the gentlemen whether they didn't in fact suspect that the Justice Department was avoiding prosecution because it feared to take steps that might be interpreted as suppressing dissent? "No," Mr. Macdonald answered unequivocally. "What we're doing is not just dissent, it's a deliberate violation of the law." That would appear to remove such doubts as might have existed concerning defendants' knowledge as a mitigating factor. Mr. Macdonald is being as plain as any man can be. He appears to desire to break the law. And Dr. Spock, egging on the Justice Department, dares it to defend such laws as, in their sovereign wisdom, he and Dwight Macdonald choose to break.

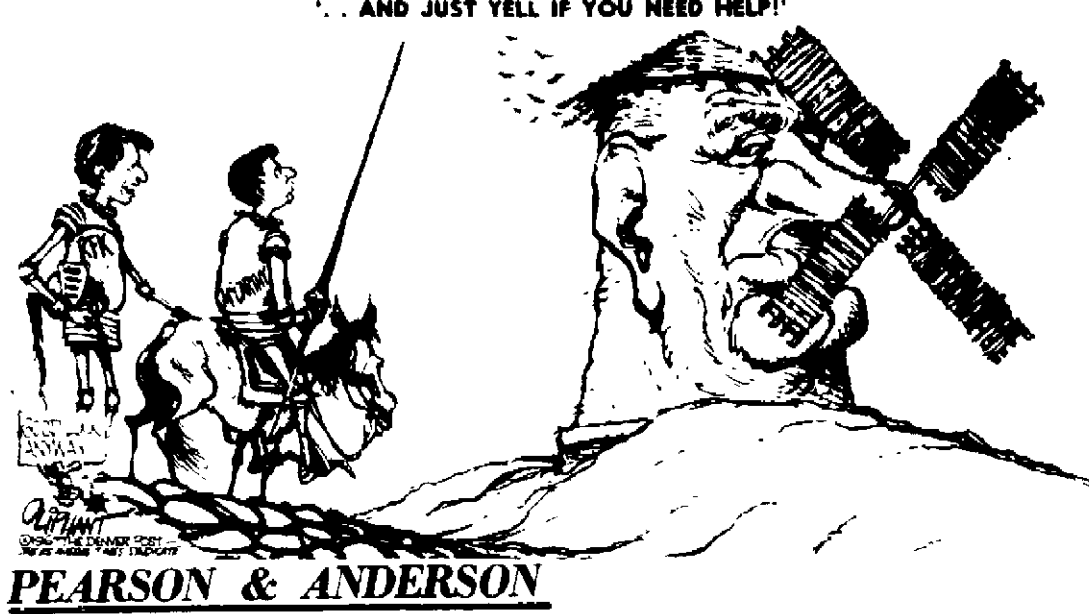

So I called the U.S. Attorney, Mr. Robert Morgenthau, and asked him, Has Washington instructed him not to prosecute? No, he replied.

Well then, would you feel free to prosecute on your own initiative, or would you refer such a matter as this to Washington?

In such a case as this, with national implications, he would probably consult Washington. Well, do you intend to prosecute, or to ask Washington whether to prosecute?

The U.S. Attorney's Office does not, as a matter of policy, hand out advisory judgments. I reached a gentleman with a full working knowledge of how these things go, and he advises me that the heroic lawbreakers are for the most part a foxxy lot, who are engaged in psychological rather than legal gambits. They call their press conferences and make their speeches. But they keep a subtle ace up their sleeve. The draft card turns out not really to be a draft card, but a facsimile. Take them to the grand jury and all of a sudden, in the privacy of the chamber, they will plead the Fifth Amendment, and the government will not have a prosecutor's case. Most of the lawbreaking you read about in this field, my informant advised me, is mock-lawbreaking.

One wonders whether Dr. Spock and Mr. Macdonald are, on top of everything else, breaking the rules of lawbreaking. Surely it would be worthwhile finding out just who is faking what under laboratory conditions. I therefore cordially invite Mr. Dwight Macdonald to violate the law, at three P.M. on Thursday, the 4th of January, at my offices at 150 East 35th St., New York 10016. He is invited there and then, in the presence of witnesses and a television camera, to counsel young men to refuse to register and serve in the armed forces. Young men will be provided. A representative of the Justice Department will be invited upon receipt of a written acceptance to this invitation. We shall see who is lacking the moral courage Dr. Spock refers to.

Exit Has Left a Hole

WASHINGTON — The exit of Robert S. McNamara as Secretary of Defense has left a hole in the previous resolve of Cabinet members not to desert the President before November, 1968. You can now expect some other cabinetiers to wall through it, and the first will probably be former Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg, now U. S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Reason for his departure will be basically the same as that which contributed to policy differences between McNamara and the President: namely, escalation of the war and failure to exhaust all possible avenues for peace.

Probably no U. S. ambassador to the United Nations has worked harder or achieved more than Goldberg. Not even when he was holding all-night wage negotiations with U. S. Steel as counsel for the United Steelworkers has he worked so hard as in the current job of trying to prevent not labor war but world war.

Shortly after Thanksgiving, the Goldbergs flew to their farm in Northern Virginia for a rest. The farmhouse had been closed for several weeks, but Arthur got the windows open to air things out and settled down for a relaxing weekend. Thirty minutes later he got a phone call from the United Nations.

The Security Council had been called into emergency session to deal with the crisis with Cyprus, Turkey and Greece were on the verge of war.

Ordinarily Goldberg travels between New York and Washington by shuttle. But, with war threatening, the Defense Department sent a special plane to fly him back to New York.

He arrived at the Security Council at 7:59 Sunday evening, one minute ahead of the appointed time, the first to arrive. Members of the council struggled in, and struggled through the night to work out a resolution to stop Turkey and Greece. Around 2 A. M., Goldberg said to Soviet Ambassador Federenko: "You don't want to be here all night, do you? Let's get together and work out a resolution."

The two most powerful ambassadors at the U. N. then put their heads together, came up with a resolution which the council adopted. It adjourned shortly before 3:30 A.M.

At 8 A.M., the White House telephoned, Dorothy Goldberg, who answered the phone, pleaded that her husband had got to bed only at 3:30, but she would wake him if the President was calling. It was a White House aide wanting to know about rumors that Goldberg would resign.

The rumors resulted from the fact that the ambassador had gone before the New York Court of Appeals a few days earlier and applied for admission to the New York bar. He was admitted promptly, as a former Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, and was not asked to write an essay on the Constitution as was former Vice President Nixon before he was admitted.

Waking up, the ambassador notified the White House aide that, if and when he resigned, the President would be the first to know about it.

Goldberg's chief difference with President Johnson today is over another bombing pause. The two men are good friends, Johnson has given Goldberg 100 per cent support on the Near East, Cyprus, and every other move he's made in New York.

But the President has not been willing to stop bombing North Vietnam for any protracted period as a move toward peace.

Goldberg has argued that "face" is all-important to oriental peoples, and we have to give them preliminary concessions, such as a bombing pause, before they will negotiate.

The President has argued, on the other hand, that North Vietnam merely uses the bombing pause to rebuild its factories and warehouses, regroup its supplies and flood the South with more men and munitions. This argument was reinforced by Gen. Westmoreland last month. Westmoreland demanded that there be no bombing pause, and LBJ continues to buy that argument.

Goldberg, however, points out that to save many American lives over the long run it's necessary to risk a few American lives over the short run.

Goldberg took the job as U. N. ambassador only because he wanted to make a contribution to peace. He had held two of the most important appointive jobs in the United States — Secretary of Labor and Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. He gave up a lifelong appointment to the court to take the temporary post of ambassador to the United Nations only because he hoped to use his very considerable negotiating abilities for peace. He has succeeded in several respects, but the main goal of peace in Southeast Asia still remains.

And the continuing war affects all the other problems of the U. N., together with most of the domestic programs which Goldberg, as Secretary of Labor and a labor leader, has so long championed.

At times he has felt like a prizefighter going into the ring with one hand tied behind him, unable to deal with the major problems. So in the fairly near future you can expect Arthur Goldberg to retire from the U. N. ring to practice law in New York and Washington.

JOSEPH ALSOP

Avalanche of Hogwash

WASHINGTON — Bits and pieces of the true story of Robert S. McNamara's resignation as secretary of defense have already been told. But from so many quarters, there has been such an avalanche of hogwash about policy differences with the President, menaces by the Joint Chiefs, and God knows what else, that the entire story had better be told for the record.

The facts, it must be admitted, are by no means simple. To begin with, Secretary McNamara had already begun hankering to lay down his enormous burden well over a year ago, when McGeorge Bundy left the White House for the Ford Foundation.

To close friends at that time, he was quite envious of Bundy and made it perfectly plain that nothing but his stern sense of duty kept him at the Defense Department.

Mrs. McNamara, closer than most wives to their husbands, had also begun urging him to lay down his burden by the time of Bundy's exit. But despite his own inclinations and his wife's urgings, the defense secretary voluntarily joined in a curious and never-before-recorded pledge by the Cabinet to the President. This was made at some time last spring, and it was nothing less than a joint promise by all Cabinet members to stay on the job through the 1968 election.

Even before this pledge, meanwhile, McNamara was approached by the able George Woods, retiring president of the World Bank, with a suggestion that when his own term came to an end the defense secretary might well become the next World Bank president. It was just the sort of job McNamara wanted. He said so and told President Johnson about Woods' approach to him. Mr. Johnson's answer was that McNamara richly deserved any post he wanted and the U.S.

government could aid him to get it. But the matter ended there at that time, since Woods' retirement was not then near at hand, and McNamara did not request to be relieved as defense secretary.

Thus the position when the summer opened was that McNamara wished for relief, wanted the World Bank, but thought it was his duty to stay on as defense secretary and was further bound by the Cabinet pledge. In these circumstances, Mrs. McNamara had to go to Johns Hopkins for an extremely unpleasant and not wholly successful operation for stomach ulcers.

Despite the operation, Mrs. McNamara's stomach ulcers continued. This was an added complication of really major character, for a quite simple and affecting reason. Precisely because of their strong closeness, any pressure to which Robert McNamara was subjected amounted to almost equal pressure, at second hand, on Margaret McNamara. And the kind of pressure the secretary was enduring at the Defense Department was not exactly an indicated ulcer-cure, even at second hand.

Hence acute, continuing concern about his wife had been added to McNamara's long list of other worries. George Woods approached him a second time, in the early days of last month. This time Woods told him that he was now or never, that he, Woods, would be leaving the World Bank very soon, and that McNamara must act without further delay if he really wanted to be Woods' successor.

In consequence, the defense secretary went to the President and laid the whole problem before him. McNamara made it plain, on the one hand, that he was not going back on his past pledge and that he was entirely ready to stay on at the Defense Department if this were the President's wish. He made it equally plain, on the other hand, that for all the reasons above-listed he would much like to take the World Bank presidency if Mr. Johnson could see his way to letting him do so.

At this point in the story, it is necessary to consider the peculiar combination of extreme warm-heartedness, even sentimentality, that marks Lyndon Johnson's normal relations with those he trusts, and the strange pettiness that the President too often shows when one he trusts finally takes his leave. Both characteristics have been known for years.

When Lyndon Johnson was Vice President, Bill D. Moyers actually went to the length of begging the late Philip Graham to negotiate his release to the Peace Corps. Otherwise, Moyers said, the then-Vice President would never forgive him. Graham was successful on that occasion. In the more recent case, however, Moyers has not really been forgiven to this day for leaving the White House for his present publishing job.

In the same fashion, McGeorge Bundy's departure caused a long and frosty interruption in his relations with the President, although he is now constantly solicited for memoranda on Vietnam and other topics. What happened in McNamara's case, then, was far better than par for the course.

Because he admires McNamara so enormously, because he owes him such a debt, because of his knowledge of Mrs. McNamara's poor health, the President regretfully decided that he must accede to the secretary's wish to go. There the heart played its role. But the pettiness, or perhaps simple jumbling, also played its role, though in a fairly minor way. In brief, President Johnson told Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler that he wished to nominate McNamara for the World Bank job without concurrently informing McNamara. Fowler informed George Woods, and the World Bank president then talked to McNamara about it shortly thereafter. Thus McNamara was left in ignorance of the President's decision, not for as long a period as has been intimated, but for no more than the interval between the communication to Fowler and his talk with Woods.

On the following Tuesday before Thanksgiving, the McNamara nomination was formally laid before the World Bank directors. Some of the subsequent trouble originated here. The directors wanted an American to succeed Woods. They were enthusiastic about McNamara. But they had been eager to break the past precedent of unique American nominees. They wanted, instead, to have a choice among several nominees, and there were objections because only McNamara's name was submitted. That was gotten over and the whole thing was tied up, though not before the fact of the nomination had leaked out from the World Bank. No one who knows the situation's inwardness supposes that the President sent that nomination without deep regrets. Secretary McNamara has told close friends that the President has treated him with "great generosity and consideration." There is only one flaw in the picture—the persistence of the indications that the avalanche of hogwash above-mentioned originated in the vicinity of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Better In The Translation

TOKYO — Every author is flattered when his article appears in another language, so you can imagine how excited I became when I heard that my columns were being translated into Japanese. The Tokyo Observer has been using them on a weekly basis, and since I happened to be in Japan, I was curious to know how they read in the translation.

A friend of mine was kind enough to re-translate one of the articles back into English, word for word as it appeared in Japanese. It happened to be the article on the U. S. government report encouraging families to drink together in a homelike setting. This is how the readers of the Observer saw it.

PROHIBIT SAKA MAKE THOROUGH METHOD U. S. government suggestion carry out alcohol poisoning of study and research results made public.

This study announcement according saka-drinking society national policy must be, it is said. Children, saka drink home possible much more effective, report say.

In France where long time live I, this expected result deliver confidence I do not have. French children grape saka drink with results of greatest alcohol poisoning. In France, calvados is thing of recall. Here greatest apple brandy produce. Mothers in the morning, children brandy one cup saka make. Attending school thousands birds feet of children stagger along. Therefore teachers protest has happened.

If announced study results correct, let's see family inside home drinking saka encouraged is. Place: Thomson house.

Karen: Back again. This evening of meal what?

Thomson Mrs.: Sherry saka inside turtle soup with cow meat of Burgundy sauce boil, and white grape saka dressing of salad. Eat after of dessert brandy cherry and then whiskey inside coffee.

George: Ah, evening meal before home work. Should have first done really.

Thomson Mr.: Nonsense stop. Mama all day at bar, everybody for work hard. Grateful words some should say.

Thomson Mrs.: Karen, whiskey sour pickle mandarin orange, eat didn't?

Karen: I mandarin orange do not like should know you.

Thomson Mr.: Freddy nine, where is?

Thomson Mrs.: Bed at resting. Last night you bought whiskey bon-bon. Big drunk have he.

Thomson Mr.: Between meals eat must not.

Freddy thousand birds feet with second story come down.

Freddy: Stomach awfully empty.

Thomson Mrs.: Cold storage saka in beer cool, therefore drink.

Q. WHY IS THE SOUNDNESS OF THE DOLLAR IN QUESTION?

SYLVIA PORTER

Dollar Devaluation — II

"The entire world looks to America now," said President Johnson to a Cabinet meeting hastily called after the British devalued the pound Nov. 18. "We are the bellwether. Our economic strength and the soundness of our dollar must never be doubted."

Proud words indeed, and the President backed them up with an even prouder public pledge to the world: "I reaffirm unequivocally the commitment of the United States to buy and sell gold at the existing price of $35 an ounce" (which means, as yesterday's column explained, a pledge not to devalue the dollar.)

But the fact is that central bankers and foreign governments around the world are beginning to doubt the soundness of the dollar. The fact is that the dollar is in a weak position; and this is so even though the rush to turn dollars into gold which followed the British devaluation has subsided. The fact is that we are vulnerable to attack and we would be guilty of the most reprehensible folly if we pretend that we aren't. To continue the quiz.

Q. WHY IS THE SOUNDNESS OF THE DOLLAR IN QUESTION?

A. Because for years, we have continued to spend many more billions of dollars abroad than we have earned abroad. As a result, foreign governments and central banks have built up enormous dollar claims against our gold reserves. In 1965, in response to rising worries then about our dollar's soundness, we made a stern promise to our creditors that we would dry up the red ink in our international financial accounts. But we have failed to do so.

Once again in 1967, we will run a big deficit in our balance of payments. It will amount to a huge $2.5-$3 billion, as a result of our Vietnam spending, our overseas tourist spree, continuing investments abroad by U. S. corporations, military and economic aid programs. And this, mind you, comes on top of a long string of annual deficits.

What underpins the dollar is the fact that our exports of goods are so much greater than our imports of goods. But in the midst of last week's nervousness, the Commerce Department had to announce that in October, our trade surplus dwindled to the lowest since early 1965. Our trade surplus is now running at an annual rate of around $4.4 billion, big but not as big as we anticipated.

Q. HOW MUCH DO WE OWE TO FOREIGNERS AGAINST GOLD?

A. As of now, qualified foreign creditors of the U. S. have $28 billion in dollar claims for which they could, legally, demand gold on demand.

As of today, our gold reserve is only $12 billion-plus, down from $22.7 billion as recently as the end of 1950.

Q. ARE WE BANKRUPT THEN?

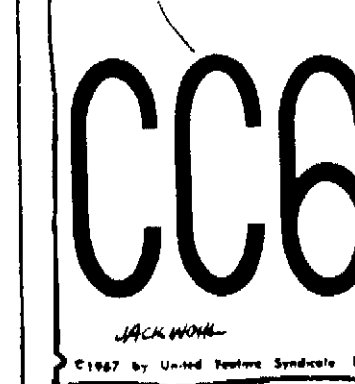

A. Of course not. But the reason this can be said so confidently is that our foreign creditors are willing to hold our dollars and not to exercise their right to demand gold in exchange. They have faith in our money and would rather hold dollars on which they can earn interest than gold on which they could earn nothing and which would cost them money to store. The key word is "faith." If our creditors lost that and staged a run on the dollar as the creditors of Britain staged a run on the pound, we could be drained of every ounce of gold and still not have enough.

Q. HOW COULD DEVALUATION BE MANAGED?

A. In theory, it could be done only by an act of Congress and the President couldn't even propose devaluation unless Congress first gave him authority to do so. This is written into the Bretton Woods Agreement Act.

Paced by former Gannon College star Ron Isackson, the TMO jumped off to a 22-18 advantage after one period, but managed only six points in the second stanza and fell behind at intermission, 34-28.

The Valleymen dominated the second half, including 24 points in the final period to 17 for the Warren five. The TMO entry was hampered by ankle injuries to starters Joel Beason and Dave Berdine. Isackson took game scoring honors with 23 points on nine field goals and five free throws. He was the only Warren cager in double figures.

Skurcenski had 20 points for Pine Valley and both Mansfield and Crooks hit for 14. The Valleymen made 33 shots from the field to 24 for TMO and held an 11-10 margin at the foul stripe.

Bing Takes NBA Lead In Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Backcourt men have that forward look in the National Basketball Association scoring race. League statistics released today show five backcourt men among the top 10 scorers.

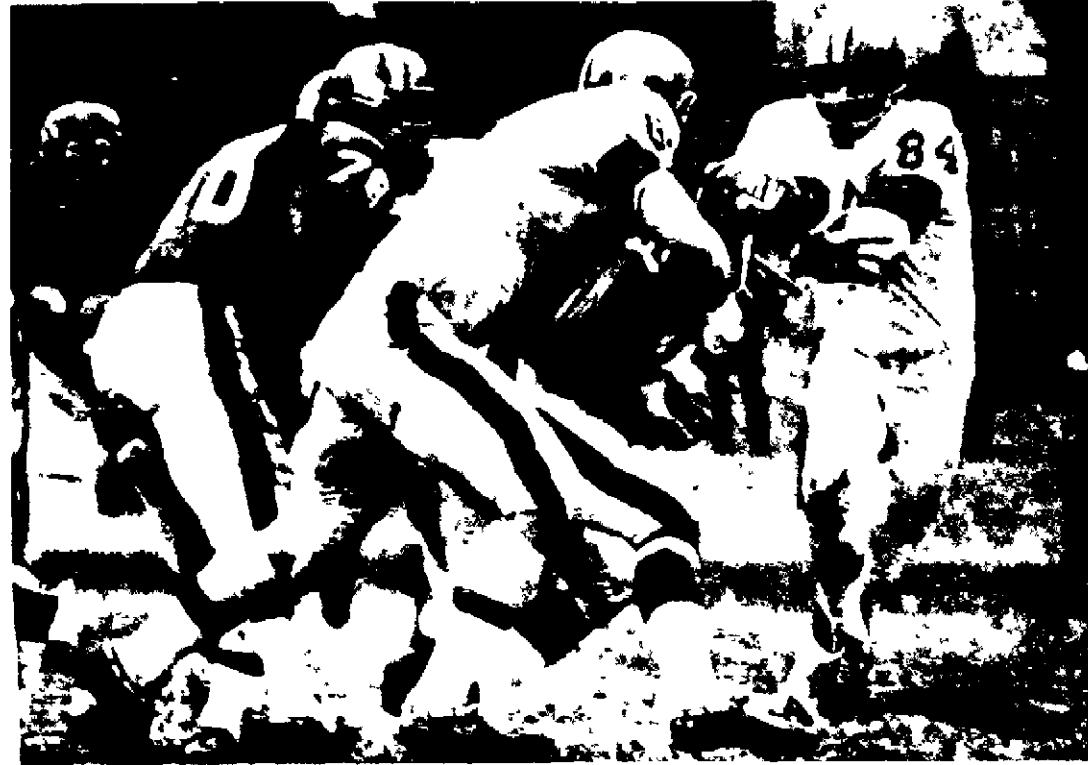

They are Dave Bing of Detroit, first with 628 points and a 28.5 per game average; Hal Greer of Philadelphia, fifth with 582; Walt Hazzard of Seattle, sixth with 573; Len Wilkens of St. Louis, ninth with 567; and Jim King of San Francisco, 10th with 554.

Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia is tops in field goal percentage, .559; Jon McGlocklin of San Diego leads in free throw percentage, .879; Nate Thurmond of San Francisco is the best rebounder, 618 and Wilkens is first in assists, 154.

Nicklaus Still Top Golf Money Winner

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, the "Golden Bear" from Columbus, Ohio, kept his lead in money-winning totals released Monday with $188,998.08 in official windings and a $211,566.66 total.

Second place Arnold Palmer had $184,065.07 officially and $193,964.02 total followed by Billy Casper with $129,423.23 officially and $145,943.52 total.

NITTANY LIONS WIN LAMBERT TROPHY

Paterno Rates East Grid Good As Any, Chides Ivy

BY WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Penn State's Coach Joe Paterno said Monday the East has grown a massive inferiority complex over the caliber of its college football teams.

"We have it drilled into us that everybody plays better football than we do," the young, bespectacled graduate of Brown University, added. "I think it's ridiculous."

"We've let the Big Ten, the West Coast and the South brow beat us into thinking we're a bunch of patsies. In my opinion the East's top teams can play football with any section in the country."

Paterno's Nittany Lions were named Monday as winners of the Lambert Trophy, symbolizing the best major college team in the East.

They finished with an 8-2 record, beating Miami, Fla., Boston College, West Virginia, Syracuse, Maryland, North Carolina State, Ohio U. and Pittsburgh. They bowed to Navy 23-22 and to UCLA, a ranking power, 17-15.

It marked the fifth time the Nittany Lions had won the trophy awarded on the basis of a poll by sports writers and broadcasters in the area.

Penn State, bound for the Gator Bowl and a date with Florida State, was an unanimous choice of the eight selectors, receiving a total of 80 points on the basis of ten for first place, vote, nine for second, etc.

Syracuse, winner over UCLA in the final game of the season, was second with 72 points, followed by Yale and Navy, tied for third with 55.

Navy advanced over Army, its victim last Saturday in the inter-service game 19-14. Army was fifth, followed by Dartmouth, Harvard, Princeton, Cornell and Pittsburgh.

"Although we beat them, I thought Syracuse was the best team we played all year," Paterno said. "I would rate them above UCLA, North Carolina State and Miami."

"In fact, if you look at the records, you will see that the East had three teams with 8-2 records — Penn State, Syracuse and Army. I consider that remarkable when you figure that there are only five teams in the area — Navy and Pitt are the

Duquesne Takes Second Victory

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Moe Barr scored 24 points and Ron Guzik 21, leading unbeaten Duquesne to its second basketball victory of the season Monday night, a 106-64 rout of American University.

The Dukes scored 11 straight points early in the first half other two — who pretend to play big time football.

"Year in and year out, I think these five teams play football comparable to the Big Ten, where there are 10 big teams; the Southeastern Conference, where there are just as many; the Big Eight, the Southwest or the Pacific Eight."

"It's just that we've been brain-washed. We're told we play a second-rate brand of football and it's tough keeping our boys mentally at a peak. We have to keep impressing on them that they're on par with anybody."

Paterno said the trouble with the East was that it had allowed itself to become "Ivy League oriented."

He chided the Ivy League for remaining aloof from the rest of the country and confining itself largely to its own back yard.

"I am an Ivy Leaguer myself," Paterno said. "The Ivy schools get some wonderful personnel. But they hamstring their boys by refusing to let them have spring practice and ruling against red-shirting the policy of holding a player out so he may play a later season."

"If you have a good engineer and the boy wants some extra study, the university would give it to him. What's wrong with doing the same for an athlete who wants to become a better football player? There's nothing wrong with spring practice."

SEASON OPENERS FOR TWO

Heavy Slate for County Cagers, Matmen Tonight

The Warren County high school winter sports season shifts into high gear tonight with four basketball teams in action and two wrestling squads on the mats.

The cage schedule shows Warren in its home opener against Bradford, Sheffield opening its 1967-68 slate by hosting Elk County Christian and both Youngsville and Eisenhower on the road, the Eagles at Clarion and the Knights at North East.

The mat lineup has Eisenhower entertaining Salamanca in the Knights first defense of the Southern Tier Conference title and Youngsville initiates the sport by traveling to Wattsburg.

Warren's wrestlers and Tiddie's cagers are the only county teams idle tonight. The Dragon grapplers open their season Saturday by hosting Erie Prep and the Bulldogs will be looking for their first victory of the young season on Friday, December 15 at Jamestown, Pa.

At Warren Area High School tonight, the Shantzenmen will try to make Bradford their second victim. The Dragons put on a second half splurge to defeat Youngsville last Tuesday, while the Owls fell before Erie East, 62-46 on Friday night.

Captain Dan O'Neil, Mike Hackett, Dave Cobb, Danny Krumm and Randy Jones will again be the starters for the Dragons tonight. Rick Nasman, who led the team in rebounding against the Eagles, and sophomore Ed O'Neil are also expected to see action. Letterman Steve Tundell is still recovering from a football injury and will probably not play tonight.

The visiting Owls, who played East to a 27-27 halftime deadlock only to be out-gunned in the final two periods, will be led by John Abbey and Mike Miller. Abbey took game-high honors against the Warriors with 15 points and Miller was the only other Owl in double figures with 10.

Sheffield, under second-year Head Coach Nick Croola, will send a young, but experienced ballclub onto the court tonight against invading Elk County Christian.

Of the ten Wolverine varsity players, three are juniors and five are sophomores. Competition has been so tough for a starting position that a senior letterman, one of last season's regulars, will be on the bench for the tip-off tonight.

High-scoring Wayne Swanson will be the only senior in the starting lineup. He will be joined by three junior lettermen, Rob Hart, Mark McGuire and Jeff Scalise. Sophomore Rick Grubbs will be the fifth starter for the Orange and Black.

Stated to see a lot of duty in reserve are senior letterman Mike Hebel and sophomore Tim Hebel. Also giving the Wolverines bench strength will be sophomores Ken Blum, Ted Morrison and Dave Rounds.

Elk County Christian nipped Venango Christian the last time out, 66-65 on two free throws in the final seven seconds.

Nedinski led the Crusaders with 24 points and Bob Gahr hit 13. Youngsville will be seeking its third victory at Clarion tonight. Despite the loss of Marty Yucha with a broken wrist, the Eagles whipped Cochran on Friday night to edge over the .500 mark at 2-1.

Starting for the Eagles tonight will be Tom Burleigh, Gary Wood, George Nelson, Danny Walton and either Jack Maze or Rich Andrews.

Clarion was routed by Rocky Grove on Friday, 78-46, but will be tough on their home court. Ed Hopkins pumped in 20 points for the Bobcats in the loss to the Orioles.

Eisenhower hopes to break into the victory column at North East after dropping its opener to Fredonia, N.Y. on Friday.

The Grapnickers made an impressive debut last week by romping past defending Crawford County League champion Cambridge Springs, 80-67. Rick Rouse sparked the Erie County team with 26 points.

Starting for the Knights will be big Bob Burlingame, Alan Swanson, Bart Lohner, Jeff Lindell and Tim Allen. Allen led Eisenhower with 14 points in the loss to Fredonia. Burlingame hit for 13 and Swanson added 11.

On the mats, Eisenhower eyes its second win in hosting Salamanca and Youngsville seeks its first wrestling victory in the school's history at Wattsburg.

The Knight grapplers handed Union City on Friday, but injuries have depleted the squad. Jim Martin suffered what proved to be a shoulder separation in his 154-pound match and was hospitalized when complications developed. Also out for at least three weeks is heavyweight Jim Sherry, winner by a pin at Union City, who broke his nose in practice on Saturday.

Either Tim Martin or freshman Bob Hagberg will wrestle in that weight class tonight, with the other going at 180. Other changes find Paul Cathcart moving down to 120, Bob McLees stepping in at 127 and Dave Jones taking Martin's place at 154.

Tonight's match will be the first outing for Salamanca, who finished in eighth place in the Southern Tier Conference last season.

Bob Lindsey, formerly at Ridgway High, has the job of turning out a wrestling team at Youngsville and he will be assisted by By Welker, the Eagles' head grid coach.

It's inexperience up and down the lineup at Wattsburg tonight for the Red and White matmen. The host team dropped its first match to General McLane last week by a 30-21 score.

East-West Classic Players Announced

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Twenty-one schools will be represented by the 28 players on the West squad in the 43rd annual East-West football game Dec. 30 at Candlestick Park.

The selections were announced Tuesday by Ted Balliet, president of Islam Temple, which sponsors the annual Shrine charity game.

With Gary Beban, UCLA All-America and Heisman Trophy winner at quarterback, the West will have three powerful runners in Lee White of Weber State College, Don Hass of Montana State; and Warren McVea of Houston.

For receivers the West will have Phil Odle, Brigham Young end and flanker who ranked first nationally in the college season, Haven Moses of San Diego State, and Joe Koonz, San Francisco State's record touchdown receiver.

At quarterback, Beban will have capable support in Danny Holman of San Jose State and Bob Lee, the powerful kicker from the University of the Pacific.

The defensive squad will include star linebackers Skip Vanderbunt of Oregon State, Mike Sweatman of Kansas, and Ed Mooney of Texas Tech.

Defensive backs include a couple of the Smith boys—Jim of Oregon and Bob of California, along with Harry Cheatwood of Oklahoma State and Neal Starkey of Air Force.

Curley Culp of Arizona State, Blaine Nye of Stanford, Steve Thompson of Washington and Cam Meltzer of Oregon will make up a powerful front four.

The West squad will arrive in San Francisco Dec. 20 and will train at Stanford University under coaches Ben Martin of Air Force, Dee Andros of Oregon State, and Ray Willsey of California.

The West roster: OFFENSE Ends, Harry Gunner, Oregon State, 6-8, 230; Phil Odle, Brigham Young, 5-11, 190; Joe Koonz, San Francisco State, 6-1, 195.

Tackles, Bob Richardson, Washington, 6-3, 250; Larry Slagle, UCLA, 6-3, 245.

Guards, Ernest Ruple, Arkansas, 6-5, 244; Dave Middendorf, Washington State, 6-3, 230.

Centers, John Erquaga, UCLA, 6-2, 217; Ron Hudson, Washington 6-4, 230.

Halfbacks, Haven Moses, San Diego State 6-3, 196; Warren McVea, Houston, 5-9, 185; Don Hass, Montana State, 6, 197.

Fullbacks, Lee White, Weber State, 6-3, 240; Jack Root, Stanford, 6-2, 220.

Quarterbacks, Gary Beban, UCLA, 6, 190; Danny Holman, San Jose State, 6-2, 180.

New Mexico Coach Quits After Third Bad Season

ALBUQUERQUE, N.Y. (AP) — New Mexico head football coach Bill Weeks, whose team won only one game in 1967 in a third straight losing season for the Lobos, resigned Monday and asked to be reassigned to other duties at the school.

New Mexico Athletic Director Pete McDavid said the search for a new head coach would begin immediately.

McDavid said contracts for assistant football coaches would be honored for the remainder of the school year.

Weeks, head coach at New Mexico for eight years, coached his teams to conference titles in 1962 and 1963 and a share of the title in 1964, when New Mexico was 9-2. But in 1965 New Mexico was 3-7, fell to 2-8 in 1966 and 1-9 in 1967, finishing in the Western Athletic Conference cellar the past two years.

Weeks' record in eight seasons was 40-41-1.

School officials said Weeks would be reassigned to academic or administrative duties.

Weeks joined the university in 1956 as an assistant to Head Coach Dick Clausen. Weeks was an end coach under Clausen and a backfield coach for two seasons under Coach Mary Levy, Clausen's successor.

Burglars Overlook Super Bowl Ducats

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Burglars broke into an Orange Bowl ticket office Sunday night and fled with $3,200 in cash and football tickets but overlooked $250,000 worth of tickets to the Superbowl game, police said.

Also left behind were $2,500 in cash and a portable television set, said officers, who theorized the thieves were amateurs or juveniles.

Pirates Schedule Warren County Day on July 28th

Emmons R. Jones, sponsor of the Warren Beverage Baseball Club, has announced that the Pittsburgh Pirates will hold a "Warren County Day" on Sunday, July 28, 1968. The World Champion St. Louis Cardinals will play the Buccos on that day.

Jones has been negotiating for several weeks with Jack Berger, the Pirates' public relations director, regarding the possibility of the Beveragemen, Glenwood League champions during the past season, meeting the winner of the Pittsburgh City League prior to the Pittsburgh-St. Louis contest on that day. The idea, however, was reportedly vetoed by National League President Warren Giles in order that such a game not set a precedent for Pittsburgh and other clubs in the league.

A home-and-home series has been booked with the "Little Pirates," a team composed of amateur players who, in the opinion of Pittsburgh scouts, have the potential to develop into major leaguers. The Pirates organization furnishes the manager, coaches, equipment and absorb all traveling expenses. The players, in order to retain their amateur status, receive no salary.

Warren Beverage will play the "Little Pirates" in Pittsburgh on the Saturday following Warren County Day at Forbes Field. A return game will be played in Warren, with the date dependant on the 1968 Glenwood League schedule. In the event of a split between the two teams, a deciding contest would also be played in Warren.

Warren Beverage players will receive special recognition prior to the Warren County Day game. Each member of the team will be introduced individually, one will serve as the honorary Pirate batboy and another will throw out the first ball. A third member of the team will be interviewed by the broadcasters over the Pirate radio network. The entire team will meet Pirate General Manager Joe Brown and will have the opportunity to talk with members of the Pittsburgh team.

Tickets for Warren County Day will go on sale on June 1st at the office of the Warren Beverage Company. All Warren Activated by Cards

AAU Seeks Agreement With Russia

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The Amateur Athletic Union said Monday it was prepared to negotiate for the resumption of sports competition with the Soviet Union.

Athletic relations were broken off in July, 1966, when the Soviet Union withdrew from the annual international track and field meet in Los Angeles, later citing U.S. military activities in Vietnam as the reason.

The AAU, at the close of its annual meeting here, explained that Russia has agreed to make payment for the financial losses incurred in preparations for the Los Angeles meet, the payments to be spread over several years.

"The AAU is willing to undertake selected athletic exchanges with the athletes of the Soviet Union as soon as satisfactory arrangements, now being negotiated, are consummated for receiving payments against the losses incurred when the Soviets canceled the 1966 meets," said David A. Matlin, president of the AAU.

The group's Board of Governors, Matlin added, agreed that the resumption would be on a limited basis.

Bans Import Of Meat

By PETER MUCCINI
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — An epizootic of foot and mouth disease, ravaging farm animals since October, forced the British government Monday to ban imports of meat from all countries where the disease is endemic.

Hit hardest by the temporary ban are Argentina and Uruguay. U.S. meat exporters are not affected. Argentina supplies 90 per cent of Britain's chilled beef supplies.

Meat dealers in London expressed fears the ban would drive meat prices up for housewives already paying up to 6 cents more per pound because of devaluation of the currency, last month and a long dock strike. A current slowdown by labor union workers on the nation's railroads could make matters worse if it continues or expands into a strike.

British farmers have been pressing the Ministry of Agriculture to ban imports of meat from countries where foot and mouth disease is prevalent, although some experts have said they had been unable to trace the present epizootic to imported stocks.

Up to now, the Agriculture Ministry has ordered the slaughter of 254,942 infected cattle, sheep, pigs and goats. Farmers are reimbursed by the government.

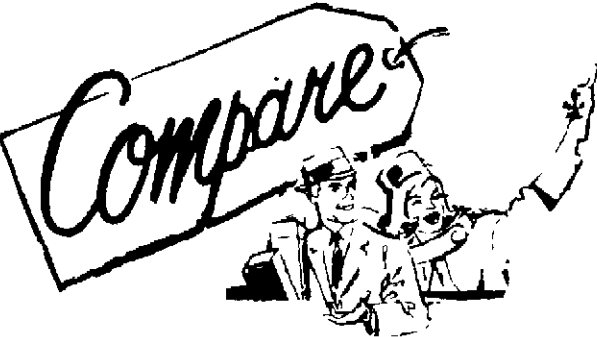

Humans can carry the disease but are not afflicted. For this reason, the government ordered a halt to all horse racing last week and sought to discourage large gatherings in farm areas.

The announcement of the ban was made by Agriculture Minister Fred Peart. He told Parliament meat importers would "suspend for the time being new shipments from all countries in the world except those very few where foot and mouth is unknown, or which have a long history of freedom from it."

Peart said the order would be reviewed in three months time — if it is still in operation then. Many breeders believe the plague started with a virus that came into the country with imported meat — mainly from Argentina and Uruguay.

The suspension does not affect canned meats, bacon or ham. But all landings of carcass meat and offal would be prohibited if not cleared by an animal health certificate, Peart stated.

Union President Scores Johnson Administration

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany Monday scored the Johnson administration for allowing U.S. merchant shipping to dwindle in time of war but pledged to support the President despite what he termed the unpopularity of the Vietnam war.

"Nobody likes this war and I'm sure Lyndon Johnson likes it a little less than anybody else that I know of," Meany said in pledging political support in the 1968 presidential election.

"We're in there (Vietnam) to protect the interests and security of the American people," Meany said.

Speaking to several labor meetings in advance of the 14-million federation's convention opening Thursday, he lashed government officials as being stupid for allowing the U.S. merchant fleet to dwindle from some 4,800 ships after World War II to about 900 now.

"We've got the manpower shortage and got all these problems that seem to spring from a stupid policy of our government," Meany said of federal action to reactivate old World War II ships to carry troops and war goods to Vietnam.

"We face an election which is going to be crucial," Meany said. "Labor's enemies of every stripe will use every angle that they can use to attack not only Lyndon Johnson and his administration but to attack the things that we represent as representatives of the workers."

But, Meany added, "We face

Last Ditch Fight Scheduled To Halt PRR-NYC Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court heard a parade of lawyers Monday making what may be a last-ditch fight to halt or modify the pending merger of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York Central, the biggest financial deal in the country's history.

Howard J. Trienens of Chicago, counsel for the Norfolk & Western Railroad, told the justices the merger "could seriously disrupt and irreparably injure" the transportation system of the entire Northeastern United States.

The high court ordered the merger delayed on Nov. 9, pending Monday's arguments. It had refused in March to permit the merger until some provision was made to include three smaller railroads — the Erie, Lackawanna, Delaware and Hudson and the Boston & Maine — in a major system.

The Interstate Commerce Commission ordered the Norfolk & Western to offer merger to the three.

Trienens complained to the Supreme Court Monday that the N. & W. would find itself "stuck with the Erie-Lackawanna alone" and declared that Erie is a money-loser, headed for bankruptcy.

He said the other two lines for which the ICC directed the N. & W. to offer a haven, "would rather be in the merged Penn. Central system." He said the N. & M. and the Delaware and Hudson are "in position to shop around."

"They are worth more to the Penn. Central than to the N. & W. because they would eliminate all Penn. Central's rail competition in New England," the lawyer declared.

The N. & W. spokesman contended that the merger of the Penn. and New York Central — which technically could be completed anytime after Jan. 1 if the Supreme Court makes a prompt ruling — should be barred unless there is a final disposition of the fate of the three small railroads.

The solicitor general of the United States, Erwin N. Griswold, told the court that the merger should go ahead — that the ICC has acted "fairly and equitably" in framing the financial and other terms by which the three smaller lines could be incorporated into the N. & W. system.

It is to the interest of the B. & M. and Delaware and Hudson stockholders, he conceded, to hold out as long as they think they might get better terms

Try Again To Open City Schools

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — The Board of Education and two striking teacher organizations met again Monday afternoon to negotiate "gut issues" in the way of a strike settlement and the reopening of the city's public schools.

Leaders of the Scranton branch Pennsylvania State Education Association (PSEA) and Scranton Federation of Teachers (SFT) were hopeful the dispute, which has paralyzed the school system since Friday, would be settled.

School Director Eugene Gibbons said, meanwhile, the schools administration made a number of concessions at an all-night bargaining session Sunday. Among those were a request classes be limited to a maximum of 30 pupils and sick leave for teachers.

Gibbons stressed, however, a proposed $500 pay increase for teachers this year and $500 next year remained unchanged.

The PSEA seeks an immediate $1,300 yearly pay increase, while the smaller SFT wants $1,500.

The two organizations, apparently at odds with each other, issued statements Monday.

"The PSEA negotiating team has worked diligently around the clock and around the table," the PSEA statement said. "We re-entered the negotiating session this afternoon (Monday) with the same desire to deliberate in good faith as we did Saturday when negotiations began."

Robert Cavanaugh, SFT president, was critical of the PSEA, however, saying PSEA negotiators "did nothing but engage in obstruction tactics for the remainder of the evening."

Salaries of the 795 teachers now range from $5,000 to $8,000 yearly. There are 16,000 pupils in the Scranton public school system.

Woman Charged In Attempted Jail Break

CORRY -- A young Corry woman who, police believe, smuggled hacksaw blades to her husband in city jail here in 1964, enabling him to escape, has apparently fallen into the habit.

Mrs. Frederick Murphy, 21, of Corry, the former Sandra Buell, was arraigned before Alderman M. S. Cobbett last week on a charge of aiding a prison breach. She waived a hearing and was committed to Crawford County jail in default of $2,000 bail, according to Sheriff Norman H. Zimmer of the nearby county.

Mrs. Murphy was accused of tying hacksaw blades to a string which dangled through a hole in wire netting on the window of a cell in Crawford County jail where four men were evidently planning a mass prison break.

The four are Stephen P. Fahey, 22, of Corry; David L. Buell, 25, of Union City, formerly of Corry and a brother of Mrs. Murphy; Charles A. Aul, 29, RD 3, Spartansburg and John E. Davis, Erie.

Fahey, Buell and Aul were convicted of burglaries and robberies by state police of the Corry substation. Davis was in jail for default of fines and costs in a case of cheating by false pretense.

The attempted jailbreak last month was broken up by a turnkey when he noticed a bar on a southside window of the jail had been sawed through at the top and bottom and had been put back in place.

The four inmates were questioned and implicated Mrs. Murphy but told officers the hacksaw blades had been broken up and flushed down the toilet. In addition to allegedly furnishing the blades, Mrs. Murphy is suspected of parking Fahey's car alongside the prison ready for a getaway.

Fahey and Buell were arraigned last Thursday on prison breach charges and waived a hearing. In the cases, Aul and Davis were slated for arraignment the same day but asked for a delay so they could confer with legal counsel.

Jail Report

There were 18 male prisoners processed and committed to Warren County jail last month, 15 adult and three juveniles. Prisoners served a total of 213 days and consumed 617 meals. They worked a total of 683 hours. There were 210 meals served per diem guards in November; 217 in October and 70 in both September and August.

Exchange Student Talks to Rotarians

Juan Peter Mongaut, exchange student from Argentina under the International Rotary Foundation, was speaker Monday noon at Warren Rotary Club. Mongaut has lived in about eight different homes of Warren Rotarians during his attendance at Warren Area High School. He arrived here last January 8, and returns soon. He was introduced by William W. Wolfersberger, international service director.

Mongaut explained the education system of Argentina is modeled closely on that of the United States. Compulsory education is required to age 12. The system is in 12 grades through high school. His native land is about four times the size of Texas, yet has a population of something over 23 million. With original settlers from various European countries, principally Spain, France and Italy, it is a cosmopolitan land. Formerly almost entirely agricultural in its economy, this is today augmented by large manufacturing, including automobiles, electrical and household appliances, etc., some of which it exports. It is the most industrialized nation in South America.

There are 300 institutions of higher learning, with both public and private colleges and universities. The Argentinians are extremely sports minded. Soccer is the most popular game. A series of color slides contrasted the four areas of the country, with different climates and varying moisture. Pictures showed small towns as well as Buenos Aires the capital.

The handsome young student addressed the Rotary Club in flawless English, and answered questions freely. He will be missed by his many good friends he has made while here.

The Rev. Kenneth Soderquist, of Port Allegany, was the sole Rotarian guest. Warren Area High School senior guests were Peter Hoffman and James Grillo. Dr. Carl Whipple announces the Warren Rotary Club board has invited a girl from either Australia or New Zealand to come to Warren as a 1968 exchange student.

FROM WARREN COUNTY

Two Enter Armed Forces

Two Warren County youths were inducted yesterday into the armed forces.

They were David L. Chase of Warren and Daniel C. Taylor of Bear Lake.

The county's induction quota for December called for three youths to be inducted; one, however, enlisted.

The December quota of three is a downswing of three from November's six inducted.

There were no pre-induction physical examinations scheduled for Warren County for December. Statewide 2418 Pennsylvanians are being called for pre-induction examinations during the month.

Looking back over the entire year of 1967, a recap shows that insofar as Warren County is concerned 66 county lads were scheduled for draft induction during the 12-month period, broken down as follows:

January, 19; February, no draft calls scheduled; March, four; April, three; May, four; June, one; July, one; August, 16; September, four; October, five; November, six, and December, three.

Pre-induction physical examinations have been given to 77 countians in the 12-month period, according to Selective Service Headquarters. Physicals include:

January, 38; June, 15, and July, 24. There were no physicals scheduled for February, March, April, May, August, September, October, November or December.

Sen. Frame

State Senator Richard C. Frame last week cast 12 affirmative votes for legislation considered by the senate. He cast one negative vote for HB 1049 which would amend the liquor code, regulating the return of any club license to the board for the benefit of the licensee.

Frame's yes votes were recorded as follows: SB 954 shortened the period of time during which any insurance company may cease to make new insurances (passed).

SB 1017 further amending the second class township code prescribing the minimum compensation of supervisors, roadmasters or laborers (passed).

SB 1212 increase the borrowing power of the General State Authority (passed); SB 1236 exempt from any fee charged for a certificate of title or registration certain vehicles owned and used by community ambulance service operated by a nonprofit corporation (passed).

HB 759 amend the game law regulating shooting near highways and providing penalty; HB 784 authorize and limit use of appropriations to nonprofit associations or corporations organized for the purpose of acquiring and maintaining historical properties (passed).

HB 1261 further amending game law regulating possession of loaded firearms (passed); HB 1304 amend county code to provide for recreation space in plans for land subdivision (passed).

HB 1398 validate and quiet the title to lands and buildings sold by boards of school directors at public auction without full compliance with provisions of law authorizing such sales (passed).

HB 1507 provide for a course of instruction and training of justices of the peace and aldermen (passed). HB 1961 amend the professional engineers registration law waiving examination requirements of certain applicants for licensure (passed).

HB 1973 further providing for submitting to the voters the question of establishing a library (passed).

Assemblyman William Allen

Rep. William W. Allen voted yes on eight bills considered last week by the House of Representatives but did not vote on a Senate Bill providing for regulating thoroughbred horse racing with pari-mutuel wagering on the results.

Affirmative votes were cast as follows: SB 34—amend the penal code making it illegal to use or sell any substance containing a solvent having the property of releasing toxic fumes or vapors. This bill, which would outlaw "glue-sniffing," passed the House.

HB 755 amend the vehicle code by providing means by which abandoned vehicles may be disposed of and the sale of abandoned motor vehicles with values (passed).

HB 1024 — prohibiting any judges in a criminal proceeding from indicating to the jury that in the judge's opinion the defendant is either guilty or not guilty of the crime of which he is charged (passed).

HB 1402—increase the minimum annual salaries of associate judges not learned in the law (passed). HB 1663—amend the real estate brokers license act by further providing for limited licenses and examinations (defeated).

HB 1673 — reduce the sales exemption tax on restaurant meals designed to produce $8.5 million additional revenues over the remaining seven months of current fiscal year (defeated).

HB 1999—authorizing the use of areas under the elevated portion of limited access highways for parks or recreation purposes (passed) and HB 2070—further providing for changes in zoning in second class townships (passed).

SOCIAL SCIENCE SPEAKER

Stanley W. Lantz, field associate, Carnegie Museum, discussed archaeological riches of Kinzua Valley at December meeting of the Social Science Section, Warren Academy of Sciences, Saturday evening. He shows two pottery vessels recovered from excavations here. (Photo by Hoff)

Lantz Gives Enlightening Talk at Social Science Meet

By FRANKLIN HOFF

Stanley W. Lantz, field associate, Carnegie Museum, presented a panorama of archaeological discoveries in the Kinzua Valley in the past few years, before the Social Science Section of the Warren Academy of Sciences at its December meeting Saturday evening at the Woman's Club.

His review, entitled "Salvage Archaeology of the Kinzua Valley," was illustrated by color slides made by himself during progress of the feverish diggings of epoch-making sites in a race against time before waters of Allegheny Reservoir backed up behind Kinzua Dam and covered these areas forever.

Lantz is president of the highly active Kinzua Chapter 18, Pennsylvania Society for Archaeology, and director of the Pennsylvania Society for Archaeology. He was introduced by John Zavinski, secretary Kinzua Chapter 18, who described Lantz as the most widely known authority on the Kinzua Valley and one who has made significant contributions to archaeology of this region for more than 20 years.

The speaker described the paradox that, had it not been for building the Kinzua Dam, with consequent urgency to explore the archaeology of the doomed area, the startling discoveries would probably never have been made; yet, because of the limited time, vast archaeological treasures have been permanently lost.

Findings by Stanley Lantz and other non-professional archaeologists in this endeavor have opened up many new pages of pre-history of this region, and filled in many missing links in the puzzle of the development of Iroquois and pre-Iroquois cultures. Even the limited recovery of artifacts and information unearthed has made many books and previous hypotheses obsolete.

"We know many other missing links are there, but now it's too late to find them," Lantz remarks ruefully.

The archaeologist finds fragments of pottery, projectile points, stone axes, tools, bone fragments and other items, and reads from them vast reaches of history dating from 18,000 B.C. to recent historic periods in this area.

According to Lantz, what makes the Kinzua Valley uniquely important archaeologically is that, over thousands of years, it has been a crossroads of movements of many prehistoric and historic peoples, who followed up the Mississippi and Ohio Valleys, others from the east up the Monongahela, and from the north and northeast from the Great Lakes and Canada; all leaving traces of occupation.

occupancy in the area and their movements and migrations.

In the few short months available for exploration and digging of the most important sites, before inundation from the Kinzua Dam, the speaker declared the work never could have been accomplished had it not been for the large group of working non-professional archaeologists who form the Kinzua Chapter 18, Pennsylvania Society for Archaeology, with over a hundred members. There simply aren't enough professional archaeologists, or enough money available to have done it.

Several unusually large excavations were made. The Sugar Run site was excavated under Lantz' supervision by a large number of Kinzua Chapter 18 members. The area was laid out in a grid of ten-foot squares. Different individuals carefully dug and sifted every inch of soil, charting all indications of hearths, storage and refuse pits, pottery, tools, bone fragments, projectile points and other data.

Stanley Lantz specially cited work done by Mrs. Frances Ramsey, archivist of Warren County Historical Society, and an anthropologist, who dug three ten-foot squares, patiently sifting between 200 and 300 cubic feet of earth. "We're really proud of Mrs. Ramsey," he declared, "She did a terrific job!"

Commenting on Kinzua Chapter 18, Pennsylvania Society for Archaeology, Lantz says this is a most unusual phenomenon. A large majority of the more than 100 members actually participate in the digs. He says this is another example of the tremendous interest of the people of the Warren County region in cultural and historical matters. He says such interest would not be found in most cities of even two or three hundred thousand population. This, he observes, is also reflected in the deep interest here in all the arts, enjoyment of superior libraries and excellent education, and a generally high cultural level of the people of this region throughout its history.

The Carnegie Museum digs were made possible from grants under a law providing emergency aid when an area rich in geological sites is to be inundated by impoundment of water, such as the Kinzua Dam.

When Dr. Don Drago, in collaboration with New York State archaeologist Dr. William A. Ritchie, made an emergency survey of the valley in 1958, about three sites were located that appeared promising. Their work was hindered because people were still operating farms and living in their homes, and far from eager to have holes dug on their property. The same applied to the Seneca Indians. Subsequently, however, other sites were located by non-professional archaeologists. Lantz himself located many. The Onoville Bridge site was originally located by Stanley Blumber. Today there are nearly 100 sites officially registered for future study.

Archaeological exploration of the entire upper Ohio Valley, including the Allegheny to its source, extending into New York

State, is assigned to the Carnegie Museum, official recording station for the region.

All artifacts, drawings of excavations and other data have been sent to the Carnegie Museum for study and interpretation. So important are the findings on the few sites excavated under pressure of time before inundation of the Kinzua Valley, that Dr. Drago is preparing a book on the subject.

Stanley Lantz and members of Kinzua Chapter 18, Pennsylvania Society for Archaeology, are stepping up their labors to open still more pages of hitherto unknown history of the area. Even winter has not prevented digging on some sites. Social Science Club chairman Thomas Hamilton declares Lantz' lecture one of the most important given to the society in recent years.

At the January 6 meeting of the Social Science Section, the Rev. Father Mark Rouché will talk on: "A Priest Looks at the Catholic Church Before and After Vatican Council II."

Book Display At Youngsville

The Youngsville Public Library has on display a special collection of Christmas books which can add to holiday fun.

The books combine the Youngsville library's permanent collection and additional books borrowed from the Warren County Library listing. Although part of a display, they are available to the borrower at any time.

Of special interest early in the Christmas season are books on outdoor lighting, decorating, party planning, plays and programs. There are books on special programs and family entertainment such as volumes on poems, songs, legends, stories for reading aloud, customs around the world, children's stories, music and carols.

There are Christmas books of all sizes for all ages.

WARREN GARDEN CLUB'S CHRISTMAS DECORATING workshops open this week. There will be two held at the home of Mrs. Homer Culbertson 308 Poplar street, and the first is this Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The club members will be engaged in planning and making holiday decorations to brighten the halls and rooms of Warren State Hospital for the Christmas season - - - This year, this is one of the principal projects of the club and every member is asked to take advantage of the opportunity to bring a bit of happiness and cheer to someone else. Materials will be available for use. However, members are to bring ribbon, old Christmas cards and any suitable decorations to the workshop. Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. Ross Fisher, chairman; Mrs. Walter Rogers, Mrs. Robert Porter, Mrs. LeRoy Schneck, Mrs. Gerald Coates, Mrs. John Newmaker, Mrs. Eugene Cease.

TRINITY WOMEN'S COOKS are busy this week whipping up delectable dainties to be offered at their Fancy Food Fair at Trinity Parish House on Friday, December 8th, between 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Canned fruits and walnuts, Greek cookies, Christmas puddings, and Christmas candies of all kinds and colors are some of the goodies to be for sale - - - but - - - that is not all. There will also be tempting, aromatic casseroles to take right home to heat and serve. For taking care of the immediate pangs of hunger that such a display of appealing holiday tidbits is sure to bring on, there will also be available coffee and cookies for sipping and munching right then and there. Mrs. William Muir, Ways and Means chairman, is in charge of arrangements.

THE SUGAR GROVE READING CLUB will be entertained this Thursday at 8 p.m. by Mrs. Walter Sweeney in her home. This is to be an old-fashioned Christmas party with Mrs. Victor Spattfor, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Sweeney, Mrs. Clarence Sherrard and Mrs. Clyde Arthur. There will be fifty-cent grab bag gifts - - - Each member is reminded to bring one.

A CHRISTMAS DINNER will be enjoyed tomorrow by the Hayseed Coddlette Club at the Mineral Well at 6:30 p.m. There will be an exchange of gifts. Anyone desiring transportation is asked to be at the VFW Club at 6 p.m. Chief Grayback Ann Swanson expresses her regret that she is unable to be present for this very festive occasion. In case anyone forgot, all reservations were to have been given to Mary Tellman no later than yesterday.

AND, THIS THURSDAY, DECEMBER 7TH the Newcomers Club will hold its Annual Auction for which members are to bring unwrapped gifts worth $1 for auctioning off to fellow members. All proceeds of this endeavor are to go to Warren Relief. Mrs. Richard Case is chairman. Newcomers still may bring gourmet items to fill the Gourmet Baskets which are to be used as door prizes at the Christmas Dance this Saturday night in the Knights of Columbus ballroom with music by The Four Keys.

IRVINGDALE PTA has no meeting this December since it would fall within a few days of Christmas. The next meeting will be on Tuesday, January 16, at 8 p.m. with Mrs. John D. McFate speaking on "Learning About The Adolescent Unit." Mrs. McFate is the nurse administrator of the Adolescent Unit at Warren State Hospital. Mrs. Clifford Howard and Third grade moms will be on committee.

MINIATURES: Sweet Adelines will have a Singout at Warren State Hospital this Thursday evening at 7:30. A program of Christmas music will be given.

Lady Gray Rebekah Lodge No. 38 is having a Yuletide dinner tomorrow at 6:30. Bring table service; the dessert and rolls will be provided by the committee. Secret Pals will bring gifts, and there will be a $1 gift exchange for all others. Mrs. Evan Tulley is committee chairman, and assisting her will be Jean Trask, Arlene Walton and Margaret Nodzak.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A woman wrote a while back and wanted to know where all the eligible men were hiding. I am a widower who is not hiding. As a matter of fact, I have been actively looking for a woman to marry. Here is what I have found:

(1) A self-effacing martyr who wanted nothing for herself—only a stern disciplinarian who could "do something" with her two unruly brats.

(2) A charming, beautiful, well-educated widow who gloried in the fact that her first husband had never seen her naked, and by gum, her second husband wouldn't either.

Next, I tried computer matching. Of the 11 prospects, one tried to convert me to her religion, a second wanted to use me to regain custody of her children, a third thought she was a Saint, and so on.

Recently I was urged to try nudism since the people in the camps are so "real and friendly." Well, I did try it. Result: Zero. Nudism I can take or leave alone, but the women I met in the nudist camp were crazy over bingo, duplicate bridge and grade B movies.

Hereafter, Ann, I'll be "hiding" at the symphony, the theater, lectures, professional meetings, art galleries and the bookstores. If you see me, call me—MR. SEARCHING

DEAR MR.: Nobody can say you haven't tried. In fact, maybe you've tried too hard. Why don't you relax, keep your shirt on and let some nice woman find YOU.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter, Amy, is three years old. There are several children in this neighborhood and during the summer months they all play in our backyard, which is fenced in.

Now that winter is here the children play in the house. They make so much noise I always ask them to close the door. Yesterday I heard Amy say, "Let's play doctor." She was in the room with a 4-year-old girl and a 9-year-old boy. I immediately went in and suggested that they come into the kitchen and help me bake cookies.

Now that I know what they are up to, I am petrified to leave them alone. Please tell me what to do.—FRANKIE IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What ARE they up to? Let me in on it. All kids play doctor and there's nothing wrong with it.

In the future make sure the door is open (no mother ever died from noise) and poke your head in periodically to make sure nobody "operates."

I do feel, however, that a 9-year-old boy is too old to be playing with a 3-year-old girl. Pretty soon he'll be eligible for medical school. Suggest to his mother that he find playmates his own age.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband works with a man who lives near us. His wife and I are friends and we go out together about one evening a week. We never go in their car, always it's ours. This means my husband is stuck for the gas and parking costs. The stock phrase is, "Let's use your chariot. It's nicer." Well, it IS nicer, but I don't think it's fair. How can we get on an alternating basis without looking cheap?—TIRED OF IT

DEAR TIRED: The next time you go out together your husband should say, "Let's go in your chariot for a change. I'm tired of doing all the driving." From then on, alternate.

Double Wedding Solemnized In Cobbs Corners Church

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Rosenburgh of RD 1, Grand Valley, announce the double wedding ceremony of their daughters, Carol Lee who became the bride of Richard Leroy Hunt and Dorothy Arlene who became the bride of Carl Clyde Tucker. Mr. Hunt is the son of Mrs. Gladys Bennink of North Clymer, N.Y., and the late Mr. Willie Hunt who was of Spring Creek, Penna. Mr. Tucker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Tucker of 105 Mechanic street, Titusville.

The weddings took place in the Cobbs Corners Community Church on Saturday, November 25, at 3 o'clock, with the Rev. Marvin Klingensmith officiating at the double ring ceremonies. Mrs. Helen Morrie provided traditional wedding music on the piano.

Carol Lee wore a white street length gown of chiffon over satin with a fingertip veil and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Mrs. Lewis Benniefield served her sister as the matron of honor in a green silk dress with white accessories. She carried pink roses. The junior bridesmaid was Nancy Rosenburgh, sister, in a yellow gown and with pink roses. Mistress Debbie Benniefield was her aunt's flower girl. She wore a yellow frock and carried red roses.

Attending the couple as best man was Lewis Benniefield of Mercer.

Dorothy Arlene appeared in a white lace over satin street length gown with a fingertip veil and she carried a bouquet of pink, white and red tipped carnations. Her maid of honor was Miss Faith Hurst who wore gold with white accessories and carried pink roses. The junior bridesmaid was Miss Maxine Rosenburgh, sister, in a pink ensemble with pink roses. Mistress Brenda Benniefield was her aunt's flower girl. Her frock was also yellow and she carried red roses.

Best man for the couple was Archie Rosenburgh Jr., the brother of the brides.

Both brides were presented in marriage by their father.

For her daughters' weddings, Mrs. Rosenburgh wore a silk dress of blue and white with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Bennink, the groom's mother, wore a beige suit and matching accessories with a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the Cobbs Corners Community House. Mrs. Florence Rosenburgh baked the three tier wedding cake for her daughter, Carol, and Mrs. Margie Benniefield baked the three tier wedding cake for her sister, Dorothy.

For traveling, Carol wore a blue suit with silver touches and a silver pillbox hat, white accessories. Dorothy wore a pink suit with silver contrasts and matching accessories.

The new Mrs. Hunt attended Youngsville High School and was employed at Sylvana in Titusville; Mr. Hunt attended Corry Area High School and is employed by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways. They are residing in Spring Creek.

Mrs. Tucker is a 1966 graduate of Youngsville High School and was employed by Wire & Metal Specialties Corp. of Warren; Mr. Tucker attended Titusville High School and is employed at Fisher and Young's Lumber Company. They are residing in Grand Valley.

Guests attended the double wedding from Mercer, Spring Creek, East Branch, Pleasantville, Grand Valley, Centerville, Hydetown, Diamond, Townville and North Clymer, N.Y.

Grace Methodist Host For UCW

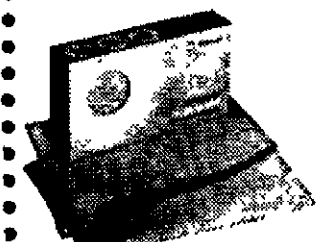

Grace Methodist Church was the host for the Warren United Church Women on Friday afternoon, December 1. Mrs. John Mallory Jr. and Mrs. Carl Ellison gave a dialogue report of the July convention at Purdue University in Lafayette, Indiana. A Christmas program of song was provided by the Warren Area High School's A Cappella Choir. The choir concluded its program with the very stirring Hallelujah Chorus from The Messiah by Handel.

Refreshments were served in Fellowship Hall by the hosts who were assisted by the members of First Baptist and First Lutheran churches.

Engagement Announcements

SHARYN LYNN STEELE
(McGarry Studio)

JOAN LYLE
(Kofod Studio)

Mrs. Kathryn Steele, of 222 North Carver street, announces the engagement of her daughter, Sharyn Lynn, to David Robert Engle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Engle, of 207 Orchard street. Miss Steele is the daughter also of the late Albert Steele.

Miss Steele, a recent graduate of the Data Processing Institute of Jamestown, N. Y., is employed by B.H. & R.F. White, Public Accountants. Mr. Engle is a 1967 graduate of Bryant & Stratton Business Institute of Buffalo, N. Y.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Mrs. Gertrude Lyle of 707 Pennsylvania ave. E. announces the engagement of her daughter, Joan, who is the daughter also of the late Mr. Kenneth Lyle, to Jack Colvin, son of Mrs. Pauline Colvin of 227 Pennsylvania ave. W., and the late Mr. C. Jones Colvin.

Miss Lyle attended Warren schools and is employed by West Penn Oil Company. Mr. Colvin graduated from Warren High School with the class of 1958 and served four years in the United States Air Force. He is presently employed by Electronics Inc.

A July wedding is being planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Williams and family spent Thanksgiving with relatives in Coudersport.

If you're hosting a big Christmas dinner, inspect your company-best linens in plenty of time for the holiday. Tablecloths and napkins may need freshening up — just dunk them in hot, soapy water, spiked with a few tablespoons of pine cleaner. Rinse the linens, iron them, wrap them up in plastic and your table's set for the big day.

If the Shoe Fits-

James R. Valone

Footsaving Education

Can poor fit be responsible for Athlete's Foot?

In a study conducted by New York University School of Medicine, it was concluded that foot injuries such as blisters, caused by ill-fitting footwear, may lead to fungus infections.

One hundred volunteers (some whose feet were kept in healthy condition prior to testing and others whose feet were deliberately injured) were used in the study. The volunteers were subjected to direct contact with the fungus that causes athlete's foot.

Many of the men and women with injured feet contracted the infection. It was found that athlete's foot failed to develop in any of the 23 uninjured volunteers.

One can only conclude that athlete's foot is most difficult to contract by healthy, unblistered feet, while blisters and skin breaks literally open the door to the infection. This is just one more evidence of the importance of correctly fitting footwear and of proper foot care.

Opening lead: Jack of ♠ West's opening bid of one spade was substandard inasmuch as he lacked the required two defensive tricks. North made a take-out double with 21 high card points and South chose to respond with one no trump instead of two clubs, in order to show his spade stopper and also to take a constructive step. Observe that seven high card points is a fairly good holding when partner is known to have at least an opening bid himself.

West continued to describe his distributional values by freely bidding two diamonds and North made a fake cue bid of three diamonds to force another call from partner, altho the more orthodox call of two spades would have been a more direct approach. When South persisted to three no trump, North accepted the decision.

West opened the jack of diamonds and the queen was played from dummy, holding the trick. In order to establish nine tricks, declarer must dislodge the ace of clubs. If the opening bidder has that card, the play becomes routine, for West is not in position to attack South's king of diamonds directly without creating an additional stopper for his opponent.

A small club was led from dummy and East chose to follow with the deuce. South played the jack and West discarded a heart. Observe that, if East puts up the ace and returns a diamond thru the king, his partner is in position to cash five tricks in that suit.

It appears that South must go down to defeat, inasmuch as East is unlikely to hold off a second time in clubs. Declarer, however, had eight tricks at this point—two spades, four hearts, one diamond, and one club—and he abandoned the club suit, in favor of projecting an end-play against West which might yield the game fulfilling trick.

The first step in the campaign was to cash out dummy's hearts. West followed to the first round, but then he was obliged to make three discards. He realized that, if he retained his high spades and declarer had the king of that suit, the latter would be able to throw him in on the third round of spades and force a lead up to the king of diamonds.

Inasmuch as his spades represented a potential liability, West proceeded to discard that suit. In order to unblock, he discarded the queen, jack, and ten in that order. After South finished running the hearts, he played the ace, king and another spade, however, West's alert stuffing resulted in East's winning the third round with the nine. A diamond return permitted West to cash out the setting tricks.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1967

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—A day for action! Be sure your energies are directed into constructive channels. Don't wait until errors are committed before you get better organized.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—A good period for introducing new ideas; also for developing those of others. Streamline your activities with both quality and productivity in mind.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Reject unprofitable suggestions. Co-operate with those who have the best interests of all at heart. Stress the sincerity and cheery disposition inherently yours.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—A personal matter bothering you? Don't let it rankle, thus reducing your potential. Table it for later discussion—and quiet solution.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Your planetary influences encouraging. Take the cue and perform duties and other activities in better and stronger-than-ever fashion. Where time permits, relax with your hobby.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Indications similar to Leo now. An added feature to pursue is closer association with intelligent fellowmen—the ones who contribute to commendable causes.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Good planetary influences. Especially favored: Cultural pursuits, educational matters, artistic endeavors and conferences with associates to further mutual interests.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—Don't postpone action on projects which show promise of having long-range, rather than immediate, benefits. Even though this may crowd your day somewhat, the resultant benefits will be well worthwhile.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—Situations complicated? Confusing? They don't have to be! If you will look sharp, are alert and careful to avoid drawing hasty conclusions, you can find openings others miss.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Insure results by capitalizing on your fine talents, channeling your energies into profitable directions and keeping your pace constant but not hectic. Scrutinize all propositions carefully.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—Be prepared for the unexpected, and should it arrive you won't lose your equilibrium. With poise and serenity, you can solve the most complex situations.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Aspects not entirely propitious, but you can offset the adverse with an energetic, purposeful program which will help you to surmount all obstacles and roadblocks.

YOU BORN TODAY have tremendous strength of will, persuasive powers, the extra drive to carry matters to conclusions, where others often drop out; also, a dislike for tedium, detail work. You are a thinker, love friendly gatherings, festive occasions; like to be a central part of whatever is going on. Discontent, sometimes too much concern over personal matters, brooding can be drawbacks. Do not scatter energies. Birth date of: Maria Callas, operatic prima donna.

How to Keep Well

LOW-CAL SWEETENERS

Artificial sweeteners have swamped the market and the sugar industry is beginning to feel the pinch. The Sugar Research Foundation is spending thousands of dollars to support research into the safety of these competitive products. This group admits that some saccharin or sodium cyclamate (Sucaryl) in coffee is not harmful but they believe that its widespread usage in soft drinks, cereals, candies and other low-calorie items "constitutes a significant threat to health."

Saccharin is 300 times as sweet as sugar compared to 30 for sodium cyclamate. Sucaryl sweetens but does not leave the bitter taste of saccharin. In 1955, the National Academy of Sciences reviewed all the evidence dealing with sodium cyclamate. They concluded that a maximum of 5 grams a day would have no adverse effect on humans. The sugar industry is promoting new tests because artificial sweeteners are so popular that many people now use 10 to 12 grams a day.

dangerous. The Food and Drug administration agrees. Most users of cyclamate do not metabolize the chemical. In other words, it goes in one end and out the other. Newer studies show that 12 per cent of the people are exceptions; they excrete a toxic compound, cyclohexylamine. This means that the body is capable of breaking down the chemical.

Cyclohexylamine causes a rash when applied to the skin. Inhaling the product may cause convulsions. But, is it harmful when excreted in the urine? Many poisonous substances are eliminated via the kidneys without damage to the body.

To satisfy all concerned, new independent tests are being conducted.

TOMORROW: An Unhappy Employee.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

ERASING THE PAST

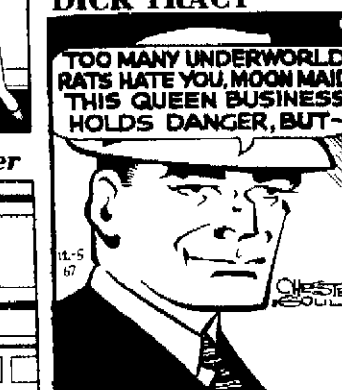

O. S. writes: I'm retired and enjoying a happy life with my family. I never discuss my former business during the day but at night I dream about it. Can you explain this occurrence?

REPLY

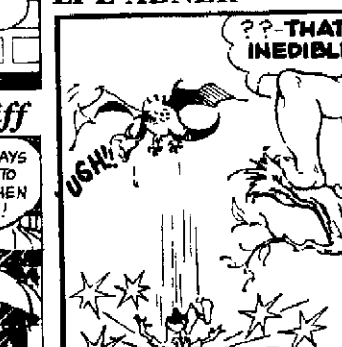

You are able to erase a lifetime of activity from your conscious mind but not from the subconscious. With time, these dreams will occur less frequently.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINT — Severe and recurrent back pain should be investigated.

IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS OF WARREN COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA

No. 35 November Term, 1967

TO: DERESTUS S. HORTON, his heirs and assigns
GEORGE M. HORTON, his heirs and assigns
AUGUSTUS H. HORTON, his heirs and assigns
MINA E. HORTON, her heirs and assigns
FANNIE HORTON, her heirs and assigns
SARAH LILLIAN GRACE, her heirs and assigns

TAKE NOTICE that on November 29, 1967, ALLAN FRANK, Executor of the Estate of KITT E. FRANK, JEN FRANK WILLIAMS, KENNETH D. FRANK, MARGARET FRANK PICKARD, WILLIAM FRANK, HORTON R. FRANK, MARIAN O. FRANK, and JAMES N. FRANK presented their Complaint in the Court of Common Pleas of Warren County averring that they were, on October 24, 1967, the owners of a certain parcel of land situate in Sugar Grove Township, Warren County, Pennsylvania, bounded and described as follows:

COMMENCING at a joint in the center of the "State Road"; thence south 11.5 degrees to a post; thence North 86 degrees East, 2 perches and 11 links; thence South 45 degrees East, 2 perches and 9 links to land of Horace Mix; thence by the same North 44 degrees East, 2 perches and 17 links to the corner of the M. E. Church Parsonage lot; thence by the west line of the said Parsonage lot, north 11 perches to the center of aforesaid "State Road"; thence by the same west 5 perches and 24 links to the place of beginning, containing 74 perches of land, be the same more or less.

The Plaintiffs further aver in said Complaint that they acquired title to said premises by virtue of the fact that they are the sole heirs and devisees of KITT E. FRANK, deceased, as shown by proceedings entered in R.D. 50, page 769 of Warren County records; that Hannah Horton, mother of KITT E. FRANK, acquired title by virtue of a deed from Stephen Couch and wife recorded in Warren County Deed Book 37, page 340; that Hannah Horton died intestate, and while there is no record of whom her heirs were in Warren County, the Plaintiffs have ascertained that in fact the said Hannah Horton was survived by a husband Abraham Horton and six children, Derestus S. Horton, George M. Horton, Augustus H. Horton, KITT E. Horton, Mina E. Horton, and Sarah Lillian Horton; that during the lives of the said Abraham Horton and Hannah Horton, the said KITT E. Horton resided with the said Abraham and Hannah Horton; that in exchange for the care and consideration tendered to them by the said KITT E. Horton, the said Abraham Horton and Hannah Horton promised to the said KITT E. Horton a title in fee simple to the premises described in Paragraph No. 1, but through inadvertence no deed conveying title to KITT E. Horton from Abraham and Hannah Horton was ever executed; and that the said KITT E. Horton resided on the premises described herein from the day of acquisition of same by her mother Hannah Horton in 1871 to the death of the said KITT E. Horton on September 7, 1964, during which time the said KITT E. Horton paid the taxes and exercised all rights of ownership to said property; that the said Derestus S. Horton, his heirs and assigns, George M. Horton, his heirs and assigns, Augustus H. Horton, his heirs and assigns, Mina E. Horton, her heirs and assigns, Fannie Horton, her heirs and assigns,

The reason which in the judgment of The Mayor and Town Council of the Borough of Warren necessitates the imposition of said tax is that it is required in addition to other legal sources of revenue of the Borough of Warren to provide funds for the proper operation of the Borough of Warren. The amount of revenue estimated to be derived annually from said tax is Forty Thousand Dollars ($40,000.00).

and Sarah Lillian Grace, her heirs and assigns, have asserted no right, title or interest in said premises for a period of over sixty years; and praying that said Defendants be notified to appear in said Court on the 5th day of February, 1968, at 2 o'clock P.M., to answer said Complaint and to show cause why a proper decree should be granted and the Defendants forever barred from asserting any claim, right, title or interest in said premises.

WHEREUPON said Court ordered that notice of said facts be served by the Plaintiffs on said Defendants, their successors and assigns, or whoever may be the known holder or holders of any claims of any nature to the legal title of the above mentioned premises, by advertisement requiring them to answer said Complaint within thirty (30) days from December 18, 1967.

NOTICE
Notice of Intention of Borough of Warren to adopt Per Capita Tax ordinance for 1968 and Annually Thereafter

Notice is hereby given that The Mayor and Town Council of the Borough of Warren, Pennsylvania, in pursuance of authority granted by the Act of December 31, 1965 (P. L. 1257) known as the Local Tax Enabling Act, as amended and supplemented, intends to consider at a regular adjourned meeting to be held on Wednesday, December 27, 1967 at 5:00 o'clock P.M., at Warren Municipal Building, Warren, Pennsylvania, the adoption of an ordinance imposing an annual per capita tax of Five Dollars ($5.00) on each resident or inhabitant of the Borough of Warren of the age of twenty-one (21) years or over for the year 1968 and annually thereafter.

The reason which in the judgment of The Mayor and Town Council of the Borough of Warren necessitates the imposition of said tax is that it is required in addition to other legal sources of revenue of the Borough of Warren to provide funds for the proper operation of the Borough of Warren. The amount of revenue estimated to be derived annually from said tax is Forty Thousand Dollars ($40,000.00).

The First Basically NEW SEWING MACHINE In 30 Years

VIKING

Most sewing machines offered to the public today are merely streamlined versions of old fashioned machines with a conglomeration of parts added to make zigzag and fancy stitches that have little practical value under actual sewing conditions. Instead, Viking started with a list of all conceivable sewing operations and conditions and invested 18 million dollars to design and engineer an ENTIRELY NEW KIND OF MACHINE to be troublefree, simple to operate and sew virtually everything under all conditions.

Ludlow Area News

By MRS. HILDIR WENSTRAN
The Rev. Carl P. Eliason used for his Communion Service topic Sunday morning "Prepare the Way of the Lord". Mrs. Mabelle Nelson directed the choir in the anthem "Break Bread Together".

Following the service, Rev. Eliason baptized the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Olson of Clarendon. She was given the name Amy Lynn. Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Olson.

On November 12th the Rev. Eliason baptized the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Terrance Gardner of Erie following the morning service. He was named Brian Melron; the sponsors were Mrs. Eva Jones of Ludlow and Lewis Jones, Warren.

Wake Up Your PERISTALSIS And Be Your SMILING BEST

Peristalsis is the muscular action of your digestive system. When peristaltic action slows down, waste materials can build up in the lower tract. You can become irregular, uncomfortable, stuffed. The unique laxative formula of today's Carter's Pills gives effective, temporary relief of the irregularity by activating the slowed-down muscles of the lower tract and stimulating peristalsis. So if you're sluggish due to irregularity, take Carter's Pills to wake up your peristalsis and you'll bounce back to your smiling best. Millions of satisfied users take Carter's Pills for effective temporary relief of irregularity. Why don't you?

Rec Project Gets Top Priority

KANE - A $100,000 project for a sanitary system and possible reconstruction of bath house facilities at the 30-year-old Twin Lakes recreational area in Allegheny National Forest near here has No. 1 priority in U. S. Forest Service Eastern Region and No. 2 priority in the nation, according to District Ranger Al Elisar of the Ridgway Ranger district.

The project will provide for a sewage disposal system which in turn will make possible flush toilets and other facilities which have been a vital need in the area seven miles south of Kane in Elk County.

Approximately 40,000 persons used the Twin Lakes area during the past season. Ranger Elisar and his staff reported overflow crowds requiring turnaways on only two weeks of the past season, which was marked by a heavy percentage of rainy days.

Elisar said the project for the new sewage system is similar to those planned for other U. S. Forest Service facilities in the area under the Federal Water Pollution Abatement program.
